NATIONALIST ARMIES WIN BIG VICTORY

SCOUTS ELECT

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, right, was unanimously re-elected national president of the Girl Scouts at the 22nd annual convention in Cincinnati today. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, widow of President Harrison, was made an honorary vice president.

ROOSEVELT IN MICHIGAN TOUR

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 15.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, beginning a one-day whirlwind tour of pivotal Michigan here today, told thousands who jammed Grand Rapids streets to welcome him that $500,000,000 in private capital has been drawn into construction work as a result of federal housing administration activities.

"Such a program of building new homes and remodeling old ones has meant business for your city," the president told his audience in this furniture capital of the nation.

The full text of President Roosevelt's Chicago talk will be found on Page 6.

Elated over the tumultuous reception given him at Chicago last night, Mr. Roosevelt entered Michigan this morning. His barnstorming tour of the state followed closely the two-day campaign of his Republican opponent, Gov. Alf M. Landon, whose special train left Grand Rapids 25 minutes before the arrival of the presidential train.

Tonight the president will speak at Hamtramck and rush to Detroit for his major address in the state. He will speak from a specially-constructed platform in front of Detroit's city hall.

In Chicago Mr. Roosevelt blasted Republican leadership and claimed credit for "saving the system of private profit and free enterprise after it had been dragged to the brink of ruin by these same leaders who are now trying to scare you."

"Some of these people really forget how sick they were," he observed as the audience howled and cheered. "I have their fever charts. I know how the knees of all of our rugged individualists were trembling four years ago and how their hearts fluttered."

The Chicago address was interpreted as a peace offering to business men at large. It held assurance that in the future there would be a minimum of legislation aimed at them unless it were for the purpose of correcting known abuses.

SIGN SUBMARINE PACT

TOKYO, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita instructed the Japanese embassy in London today to sign an agreement continuing the clause in the London Naval treaty limiting submarines.

14 ARRESTED BY OFFICERS OF SALINAS

New Violence Flares Up After Mayor States Strike Ended

SALINAS, Cal., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Police and armed guards laid down a tear gas barrage today and dispersed 400 striking lettuce workers who stormed the barbed-wire barricade in front of the Salinas Valley Ice company's packing plant.

Fourteen pickets were arrested for unlawful assembly.

Police estimated they fired 40 to 50 rounds of tear gas before the crowd of strikers fell back.

The pickets arrived early today as trucks laden with lettuce arrived from the fields and were taken to the packing plant. The strikers shouted at the strikebreaker drivers and threw rocks at the trucks.

The new outbreak of violence in the 11-day-old lettuce workers' strike came after Mayor E. J. Lynch, of Salinas, announced that "so far as city authorities are concerned, the lettuce strike is over."

After the tear gas barrage the strikers attempted a marching demonstration through downtown Salinas streets but were turned off main thoroughfares by police.

They then reformed their ranks for parading through another street but police quickly broke up their lines and the pickets scattered through side streets and alleys.

SEEK FUNDS FOR STRIKERS IN SALINAS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Appealing for financial aid for 3500 Salinas lettuce strikers, representatives of the Monterey County Central Labor union today scored state peace officers and employers in an appearance before San Diego labor bodies.

J. P. Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Sprague, representatives of the Fruit and Vegetable Workers' union No. 18211, said workers did not strike but were "locked out" and that orders were issued to workers against violence.

They accused state highway patrolmen and special deputies of "unnecessary violence" in firing gas bombs and beating workers.

ANAHEIM MAN IS GIVEN LODGE POST

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Henry A. Mang of Anaheim, today was elected grand junior warden at the 1937 Grand Encampment of the L.O.O.F. for California. Mang won over a field of eight candidates.

New officers elected without opposition were C. C. Gardner of Napa, grand patriarch, succeeding Neil W. Reid of Santa Cruz; Walter J. Richter of Ripon, grand high priest; Emil Beitman of Redwood, grand senior warden; M. H. Ludlow, San Francisco, grand scribe, and John I. Ralph, San Francisco, grand treasurer.

Elected grand trustees in a field of six candidates were E. B. Kain of Eureka, P. C. Sandholt of Hollister and H. H. Williams of Vallejo.

End of Double Features Seen

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Hailing a "return of prosperity" M. H. Aylesworth, chairman of the board of Radio-Keith-Orpheum and Radio pictures, predicted increased prices and the end of double-feature programs in American theaters.

"The double feature program was a child of the depression—cheap admission and quantity entertainment," Aylesworth told the Society of Motion Picture Engineers at its semi-annual banquet.

Gold Stocks Of U. S. At High Mark

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Gold stocks of the United States today set an all time high when they passed the $11,000,000,000 mark.

A steady inflow of gold from abroad was shown to have boosted the stocks to $11,001,612,764 on the daily treasury statement for October 13.

This gives the United States more than half of the estimated total visible world stocks of the yellow metal of $21,875,000,000. The increase was approximately $15,000,000 over October 12 and $1,529,000,000 over the same date last year.

COAST STRIKE EDICT STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The government's new maritime commission today promised an "impartial" investigation into all phases of the Pacific coast maritime labor dispute and at the same time re-emphasized its demands for an unqualified truce in the interim.

Rear Admiral R. A. Wiley, acting commission chairman, told reporters that a telegram from union representatives to the president asserting that the strike referendum would be called for October 28 and challenging the commission's authority had been referred to him and was under study by his legal staff.

Pending the study, Wiley said he would not reveal his next step.

"Do you regard that as a challenge to your authority?" he was asked.

"You might call it that," he said. "We feel that we have a job on our hands and we are going to see it through," he continued. "I think we are going to get peace out of it. Certainly we are not going to fail through lack of effort."

He stressed the fact that the commission's investigation by Rear Admiral H. G. Hamlet, former coast guard commandant, who is en route to the west coast, would be thoroughly impartial.

UNIONS READY FOR COAST STRIKE VOTE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Members of all unions affiliated with the powerful Maritime Federation of the Pacific prepared today to vote on whether to strike if the disputed issues in their proposed labor agreements with shipowners were not adjusted within the present truce ends October 26.

The strike vote of the more than 30,000 members is to be completed by October 25, Mervyn Rathbone, secretary of the federation, said, and will be announced from the local headquarters.

The unions were admittedly unresponsive to the suggestion of the maritime commission that a truce be extended indefinitely until new working agreements could be worked out.

STATE OFFICERS PROTECT FARMERS

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 15.—(UP)—State police were called out today to protect farmers hauling produce to Seattle from further alleged intimidation by the Teamsters' union.

Patrolmen were stationed along highways leading to Seattle from fruit and vegetable growing areas at the request of Gov. Clarence D. Martin.

The governor's action followed charges that the union had forced farmers to accept union drivers for their trucks, under threat of violence. Seattle police arrested Earl Jenkins, 38, and John Potts, 49, charged with interfering with movement of produce at a farmer's market.

CREW OF 54 ON VESSEL ENDANGERED

Two Steamers Rushing to Help Stricken Craft in Lingayen Gulf

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 15.—(UP)—The S. S. Moko Maru, carrying a crew of 54, proceeded slowly toward Lingayen gulf today with water rising in her number one and two holds. It was believed she was in danger.

The steamers Anking and Concordia rushed toward the stricken vessel. The Nushi Maru and Genoa Maru were advised by the Moko Maru's master that they were too far away to be of assistance, and continued on their course.

Globe wireless reported picking up the Moko Maru's distress message: "SOS Moko Maru 1728 north latitude, 119.13 east longitude. Water in holds one and two. Danger. Want immediate assistance."

The Moko Maru was en route to Moji from Dungan. She carried no passengers.

EXCHANGES MUST FILE STATEMENTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The Securities and Exchange commission adopted a new rule today requiring national securities exchanges to submit annual financial statements for themselves and all companies or exchanges affiliated with them.

The commission's order ruled that immediately after the close of each exchange's fiscal year, it must file with a supplement setting forth its balance sheet as of the close of the year and its income and expense statement for the year.

At the same time, every affiliate and subsidiary of the exchange listed in the registration statement must file a supplementary statement setting forth its balance sheet and income and expense statement.

REVEAL MUTINY IN BRITISH NAVY

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The admiralty announced today there had been a mutiny in the British navy. It was termed a "slight case of indiscipline."

When the secret ship, H. M. S. Guardian, was lying with the fleet in the Firth of Forth recently, part of its crew ignored for a time orders to fall in line, the admiralty said. The incident occurred Oct. 10. It lasted only a few minutes, and did not affect the normal routine of the vessel.

The seamen for some days had been grumbling about overwork and the poor quality of food.

FATHER COUGHLIN CALLED COMMUNIST

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—President John F. F. Gattelli of the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor today called upon the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin to remove his priestly robes "if you continue to be a true representative of Joe Stalin of Russia."

In a 699-word open letter to the Detroit priest, who left here late Tuesday, Gattelli said Coughlin, through recent utterances, has "proven quite conclusively that you are a more fervent Communist than even Earl Browder himself."

EKINS OFF FOR MIDWAY ISLAND

WAKE ISLAND, Friday, Oct. 16.—(UP)—H. R. Ekins, reporter on a race around the world, took off at 5:43 a. m. (10:39 a. m. PST) today for Midway Island, 1194 miles distant.

Committee Named For Yule Event

MEETING this morning the retail division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce named Phil M. Brown, general chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the city's annual Christmas festival.

Other members of the committee, named to serve with Brown, are Walter Swenberger, Herbert P. Rankin, Carl Stein, Wilbur Barr, Rodney Bacon, J. N. Harding and Ivie Stein. This group will have charge of all details of the annual festival including decorations, arranging for a program to be presented during the celebration and finances.

Considerable time was devoted at the meeting today to a consideration of plans for decorating the streets of the business district during the Christmas season. It was definitely decided that the plan followed last year will be discarded and a theme stressing the use of evergreen trees, colored lights and other decorations in the Christmas theme will be adopted.

The committee will hold another meeting October 23 at which time a decorative theme will be definitely selected. Plans for entertainment to be presented during the festival also will be discussed at the next meeting.

While nothing definite in the matter of programs to be presented during the celebration has been decided upon by the chamber, it was indicated at the meeting today that a program featuring outstanding soloists and vocal organizations of the city will be included. According to tentative plans the program of presenting programs of Christmas carols and songs appropriate to the season from the top of the First National Bank building will be included in the plans.

WARNING GIVEN BY GOV. LANDON

A BOARD LONDON CAMPAIGN TRAIN, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon campaigned homeward today with a warning that unless the New Deal is driven out of power "the farmers and workers eventually will play Santa Claus in the present administration's program."

Leaving Grand Rapids, Mich., where he spoke to a large crowd last night, the Republican presidential nominee headed into Indiana for the first time.

The full text of Governor Landon's Grand Rapids speech last night will be found on page 7.

At Kendallville, Ind. that so called doubtful state, Governor Landon declared "the bonded indebtedness of government is in reality a first mortgage on every home and farm in this nation. It is just as real and far more certain of collection than if it were recorded in your court house."

"It rests largely on the backs of property owners, farmers and wage earners. I am opposed to waste and debt because I am opposed to the ultimate confiscation of farms and homes."

At the same time, William L. Hutcheson, head of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, and director of the labor division of the Republican National committee, issued a statement from the Landon train in which he accused the New Deal of "using its influence to control the international affairs of labor unions."

Claims Parade Coercion

"This was illustrated," he said, "when the notice went forth to compel union men of Chicago to march in the parade held in that city last night for President Roosevelt."

"It is the recognized right of unions to direct members to participate in a labor parade, but it is an unheard of thing to compel them to march in a political parade. The tactics used in promoting last night's parade in Chicago are similar to those used in countries under dictators."

SAYS JAPAN DESIRES TO KEEP PEACE

Ambassador Declares War Rumors Fostered by Selfish Interests

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Japanese Ambassador Hiroshi Satou said today his country will never start a naval building race.

Speaking to the Carnegie Institute Founders' day audience, he said of Japan:

"She will never be a menace to others and she will never initiate a naval competition."

His comment was regarded as significant in view of the breakdown at the end of this year of the treaties limiting fleets and fortifications in the Pacific region.

"The occasional rumors of impending war between our two countries are fostered by professional alarmists, by selfish interests that seek profit in such eventuality or by those who misunderstand the aspiration of the Japanese nation," he said.

Japan does not intend aggression in China but only asked China's cooperation against Communism," he said. "Social peace has been attained when these changes have been assured by law. In terms of international relations, such changes have not been legalized, so far they have been accomplished only by wars. To condemn war and by so doing to close one's eyes to those natural changes that will occur in the vitality and worth of different nationalities is to disregard actual facts."

BELGIUM DISCARDS FRENCH ALLIANCE

PARIS, Oct. 15.—(UP)—France suffered a serious diplomatic defeat today and Germany a victory when Belgium, key to Western Europe as it was in 1914, joined the isolationist nations and concentrated its foreign policy on preserving its neutrality in any war.

Young King Leopold's announcement of a foreign policy "exclusive and wholly Belgian" implied denunciation of the traditional Belgian-French military alliance, caused abandonment of any hope here for a successful Locarno treaty conference and faced the government with the apparent urgent necessity for pouring new millions of dollars into the magnet line of fortifications facing Germany.

600 MINERS TO STRIKE SATURDAY

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Glen Gillespie, chairman of the state Mine union board, said today that 600 men at the U. S. Mines Midvale smelter probably would join a state-wide strike of mine, metal and smelter workers Saturday.

The announcement was the first development in the strike which started several days ago after operators would not meet union demands of a higher pay scale and strict regulation of hours under the state 8-hour law.

CLIPPER REACHES HONOLULU TODAY

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 15.—(UP)—The Philippine Clipper, carrying Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, Roy W. Howard and five other passengers on a "final preview" of Pan-America's trans-Pacific air system, landed here at 8:47 a. m., PST, today on its flight from Alameda, Calif., to Manila and return.

WIFE SUES

Ernest Simpson, below, whose wife, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, favorite companion of King Edward VIII, yesterday filed suit for divorce in a secret court filed in the Ipswich Court of Assizes. Simpson, an ex-army officer, devotes most of his time to the ship chartering business.

SUIT CAUSES WIDE COMMENT

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson's decision to divorce her husband in a provincial court at Ipswich, where the uncontested suit is docketed for trial late this month, caused widespread speculation today as to its effect on her friendship with King Edward VIII.

Sources close to Mrs. Simpson said any suggestion that King Edward might marry her after her expected divorce was ridiculous. Friends said such a marriage was absolutely out of the question.

Talk of King, Friend

News of the action circulated through fashionable Mayfair without benefit of headlines due to British laws against printing details of divorce petitions. Most of the talk was about the king and Mrs. Simpson, who was his majesty's guest on a recent cruise along the Dalmatian coast and at numerous house parties. Mayfair seemed to assume they would be together even more after the divorce.

Ernest Simpson, husband of the king's companion, scarcely figured in the gossip aside from interest in the undisclosed name of the woman Mrs. Simpson named as co-respondent. He did not appear at his office yesterday, the day the suit was filed in Ipswich, or today. He is living at the Guards' club, while his estranged wife occupies her new apartment.

Close friends volunteered that the divorce was intended to be amicable and that Simpson would enter no defense.

Secret Action Planned

Infidelity is the only grounds on which a divorce could be granted under British law. Apparently Mrs. Simpson hoped to keep the action secret by entering it in the Ipswich assizes with no further identification than the initials of the litigants.

King Edward, the Prince of Wales, met Mrs. Simpson, now 42, two years his junior, in 1933. Princess after princess eligible to marry a Protestant British monarch married elsewhere.

A few months ago, after his accession to the throne when privacy became impossible, the king's friendship for Mrs. Simpson began to cause talk.

Stories differ on their first meeting—a dance at a little night club or a weekend house party to which Lady Furness, the former American Thelma Morgan asked him to invite some Americans who were a lot of fun.

There is still another story that, however, the king met Mrs. Simpson, he was acquainted with Ernest Simpson, the 35-year-old Harvard graduate shipping man and former officer in the crack guards.

A weekend house party, held at Fort Belvedere, the king's country place near London, is the accepted version.

High Spirits a Tonio

King Edward found the vivacious American, the Baltimore girl who married an American naval officer and was divorced from him, a friend whose high spirits were a tonic.

Even before he became king, Mrs. Simpson was presented at court. The then prince and Mrs. Simpson were seen on the continent at Riviera resorts and elsewhere, in London and elsewhere.

Loyalists Forced Back as Planes, Tanks, Cavalry Attack Lines

BULLETIN
WITH LOYALISTS AT NAVARRA, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The rebels captured the town of Mendrid on this front, 27 miles southwest of Madrid, in a slashing onslaught today. The Loyalists also evacuated Navas Del Rey after a heavy rebel aerial and artillery bombardment.

WITH THE LOYALIST ARMY WEST OF MADRID, Oct. 15.— (UP)—Loyalist militiamen poured back from the advanced lines today before a crushing nationalist attack by airplanes, tanks, armored cars, artillery, cavalry and infantry.

They were the men who 24 hours before had gone singing up into the lines to join in a Loyalist counter-offensive which was to have rolled back the Nationalists.

But the counter-offensive was broken, admittedly. The Loyalists today were on the defensive and it was indicated the new defensive line, if the Nationalists pressed their advantage, would be some miles eastward toward Madrid.

Apparent objectives of the Nationalists would put them about nine miles east of their present positions on a front extending northwestward between 25 and 35 miles west of the capital, ready for a final big drive.

The nationalist drive was a demoralizing surprise. The Loyalists had made good gains. Then Loyalist airplanes were forced back by a great fleet of rebel planes.

Next, picked insurgent storm troops hit the Loyalist line at San Martin De Valdepenas directly west of Madrid, behind a fleet of tanks. Their initial assault took them to the gorge 2-1/2 miles from San Martin. There, after taking both sides of the gorge, they reformed their lines for the next drive.

Soon the Nationalists were attacking at Cerebreros, El Tiemblo and El Hoyos—where a few hours before the Loyalists were advancing.

An urgent call was sent back for Red Cross ambulances.

Embattled all along the line, the Loyalists then were outflanked by two Moorish cavalry units at Aldea Del Fresno, southeast of San Martin.

Reinforcing the attacking units came strong units on the roads southward from Avila and the expectation was that they would go into action sometime today. They included, Loyalist reconnaissance planes reported, tanks and heavy artillery as well as infantry and cavalry.

OPEN RACE FOR WAR AID IS INDICATED

LONDON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The refusal of Lord Plymouth, chairman of the Spanish non-intervention committee to call a meeting to consider Soviet Russia's proposal for a naval blockade of Portugal threatened today to start an open race between Fascist and Leftist powers to aid their favorites in the Spanish civil war.

Russian diplomats expressed anger over Lord Plymouth's refusal. Moscow already has warned it will withdraw from the agreement unless Fascist powers cease their alleged aid to the rebels. Germany, in turn, has served notice that it will reserve "freedom of action" if Moscow withdraws.

Russia, in a note to the committee, asked that the British and French between blockade Portugal to see that arms were not sent into Spain. Moscow asked that the non-intervention pact signatories be convened immediately to discuss the proposal. Plymouth turned down the suggestion. He wants to wait until Portugal has replied to Russia's charge that she is aiding the Spanish rebels, before holding another meeting.

In reliable quarters it was reported that unless Portugal speeds its answer, Moscow may take some decisive action regarding Spain without consulting the other powers.

TWO MAINE MEN KILLED BY BEAR

ELLSWORTH, Me., Oct. 15.—(UP)—A supposedly tame brown bear attacked and killed two men in its cage at a gasoline filling station here today.

Those slashed to death by the claws of the animal were George Langley, 55, proprietor of the filling station, and James Virtue, 65, Langley's helper. The men were attacked when Langley entered the bear's cage to feed it.

MEXICO POLICE 'DEATH SQUAD' IS FETED HERE

Friendship between the Republic of Mexico and the people of California, and more particularly the people of Santa Ana, was more closely cemented today following a dinner extended seven members of the "Squadron of Death," of the Mexico City police department.

Sponsored by the Mexican Businessmen's association of Orange county members of the squad, under command of Capt. Luis Leal and Daniel Munoz, were honor guests at a noon luncheon in Green Cat cafe, Capt. Everett Arlas, of the foreign relations bureau of the Los Angeles county sheriff's office, expressed the theme of the dinner when he said "a meeting, such as this has a real meaning. To a Latin American when he is asked to break bread with a person, or group of people, the invitation means a bond of real friendship."

Santa Ana city officials and representatives of the county expressed the same theme in their talks. They stressed the importance of such luncheon meetings as a ground for cementing the bond of friendship between two sister republics—Mexico and the United States.

Senor Enrique Laurent, formerly a member of the "Squadron of Death," was master of ceremonies and introduced the honor guests as well as speakers. Sol Gonzales, president of the Mexican Businessmen's association, spoke on behalf of the host organization and expressed his great appreciation of the opportunity that made possible the luncheon as a means of bringing closer together and cementing the friendly relations of the two nations.

N. D. Meyer, Santa Ana attorney, spoke briefly and paid a tribute to the recently appointed Mexican consul in Los Angeles, E. Colunga. He said that the people of Orange county would always find Consul Colunga ready to cooperate in the solving of social and economic problems as they effect Mexican nationals in this country and predicted the dawning of a new era, for Orange county, of relations with the Mexican people.

Consul Colunga was detained in Los Angeles and sent as his representative Senor L. Couttolenc, who expressed the appreciation of himself and Consul Colunga at the opportunity to attend the luncheon and said: "You have heard of and no doubt seen examples of Mexican art but you probably have never seen the phase of Mexican art demonstrated by the members of the 'Squadron of Death.' They are artists more than cyclists."

Mayor Fred Rowland welcomed the visitors to the city and was followed by Chief of Police Floyd Howard, Sheriff Logan Jackson, Capt. Henry Mehan of the California highway patrol, Police Judge John Mitchell and Captain Arlas of Los Angeles.

Capt. Luis Leal, commandant of the "Squadron of Death" and the only member of the original squadron who is still riding with the police, spoke on behalf of his men saying that he was glad to be in Santa Ana and that when he left Mexico City he was instructed by President Cardenas to "tell our neighbors to the north, and particularly in California, that you are

TAVERN TATTLERS, LITERARY SOCIETY, IN FIRST MEETING

Members of the Tavern Tattlers, Santa Ana Junior college literary society, discussed preliminary plans for the current semester last night when they met for their first meeting of the year in College hall.

Mrs. Jennie L. Tessmann, college instructor, reviewed "Come With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell after which it was discussed by the members.

The Tavern Tattlers is a group of college students who are interested in the field of literature, both newspaper and the classics. They meet twice monthly to discuss literary topics.

The Tavern Post, the college literary magazine, is published by this organization.

Officers for this semester are Mary Paxton, president; Katherine McDermott, vice-president; Eloise Walker, secretary-treasurer.

Members include William Backman, James Bartlett, Barbara Lee Beyer, Gordon Bishop, Marjorie Burton, Marion Doty, Mildred Filer, Robert Forcey, LaVonne Frandson, Roger Fuller, Jack Gardner, Gerrie Griffith, Helen Griggs, Franklin Guthrie, Barbara Leebach, Dick Mather, Dick Phillips, Marian Pletke.

Beulah Purker, John Rabe, Victor Rowland, Elbert Stewart, Robert Swanson, Chester Wafford, Freda Wagner, Jack Wallace, and Frances Was. Thomas H. Glenn is the adviser.

Court Notes

Imogene F. Myers, 20, store clerk, today asked $25,000 damages, while her father, James F. Myers, sued for $20,000 as a result of injuries received by the girl in an automobile accident at Newport Beach last June 15, suit being brought in superior court against A. L. Witten.

The girl, in addition, asked undetermined special damages for loss of earnings. Her father asked $1200 for her medical expenses and $500 representing loss of assistance from her earnings until she is 21. The wife went out with other men, and when he remonstrated, she threatened to take poison, or jump off the pier, G. W. Tubbs, of Huntington Beach, alleged in a divorce suit filed yesterday in superior court against Pae Tubbs. They were married in Seattle in 1919 and separated last September 7.

In a divorce suit on file today in superior court, Harry G. Spielman charges Mary G. Spielman with cruelty and desertion. The couple wed in Savanna, Illinois, in 1910, and separated in 1933.

Edwin Schroeder, of Santa Ana, was convicted by Superior Judge James L. Allen of drunk driving, misdemeanor degree, at conclusion of testimony in the trial late yesterday. Schroeder applied for probation and will receive a hearing October 23.

He was found guilty in connection with an automobile accident on 101 highway near the county hospital August 20, when Jack Hunt, a companion of Schroeder, was hurt. They were returning from a roadside "night spot" near Anaheim.

Picnics and Reunions

All former residents of Illinois are warned that this will be their last call to the annual fall picnic reunion of the "Suckers." It will be held all day, Saturday, October 17th in Sycamore Grove park. A special feature will be the fine musical program by a 50 piece colored community band with vocal soloists.

All former residents of Connerville, Indiana are invited to a picnic at Elby Park, Long Beach, one o'clock Sunday, October 18. Bring lunch and table service.

bearing my best wishes for a better understanding and closer relationship between our two countries."

He said that the trip, by himself and companions, is not only an exhibition tour but that they are acting as ambassadors of good will from Mexico City.

Members of the squadron with Captain Leal were: Daniel Munoz, chief of the group visiting Santa Ana; Faustino Garcia, Alfonso Vilchis, Alfonso Gonzales, Francisco Guzman and Carlos Luna.

During the dinner entertainment was provided by the Trio Mexico, instrumentalists and vocalists and Beatriz Castro and Jose Torres, dancers.

LIONS HONOR PAST PRESIDENTS TODAY

Past presidents of the Santa Ana Lions club were honored today at a special meeting arranged by E. M. Sundquist, who for 10 years held the office of secretary of the organization. Each of the presidents who have held office since the club's organization in 1922 was given the opportunity to comment upon the activities of the president whom he followed in office.

Dr. Elliott Rowland, the club's first president, recounted incidents and activities of the organization's first year. He told how the club started with an enrollment of five members; how it progressed, and how the men became active in the community's life.

Dr. Perry Schrock spoke briefly upon the administration of C. S. Crookshank, the only club president not now living.

Past presidents who participated in the program today included Hanson, Harold Wahlberg, Harold Yost, Lyle Anderson, Homer Chaney, Ray Adkinson, Carson Smith, Kenneth Morrison, C. W. Harrison, and the 1936 president, Rolla Hays Jr. Willard Bassett, vocal soloist, was accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

Police News

Five stitches were taken in the forehead and nose of Sam Travis, Buena Park, who appeared in county hospital early this morning for treatment of the injuries. He said an unidentified assailant struck him with a bottle, causing the injuries.

Two men who failed to complete payments on fines assessed for drunk convictions were jailed last night and this morning on bench warrants and held to serve out the fines at rate of $2 per day. They were Stanley S. Romero, 39, El Mendez, jailed by Deputy Sheriff A. W. Fullerton and Tom Murphy, with $11 owing, and Trinidad Vegas, 44, Westminster, jailed by Deputy Sheriff Bob Steinberger, with $6 owing.

Admitting he had been in the United States but seven months, crossing the border at Calexico, Melquiades Rodriguez, 59, was rebooked at county jail today on a charge of illegal entry and held for deportation, records show.

On complaint of an unidentified person that children were being permitted to spend "their own and their parents' hard-earned nickels" on a "game of skill" at a Seventeenth street store, Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach investigated yesterday. The store proprietor said he would have the "game of skill" owner take the machine away at once.

Fourteen-year-old Robert Lafayette Bland, the Abilene, Texas, traveler who was expected to arrive here or in Bishop more than a week ago and who was the object of an intensive but unsuccessful police hunt, walked into the sheriff's office at Bishop yesterday, healthy and happy.

Robert, according to report of his uncle, Dee Bland of Bishop, who visited here recently with Pat Kelley, was hitch-hiking from Texas to pay a visit here and in Bishop. Funds shortage caused the delay in Robert's arrival, it was believed.

An unidentified man, believed to be a transient, about 25, five feet seven inches tall, weighing 175 pounds, having a wound on his lower lip, and wearing blue jacket, dark blue pants and dark fedora hat, was being sought by city police today after Bob Lentz of the Pittsburgh Paint store, 401 West Fourth street, reported the man carried a $5 leather jacket away with him when he left the store. The man is wanted as a pretty thief.

Even before Samuel Ramsey, 604 East Fourth street, had reported his car stolen last night, city police had found it, records show. Ramsey reported the loss at 1:45 a. m. today. Officers had located the car at 1 a. m.

Charged with being drunk and disorderly conduct after he assertedly made an unsuccessful attempt to "beat up" Officers Paul Cozad and Burnette Lane, Marciano Gonzales, 30, Orange, was jailed at 1:30 a. m. today. The arrest was made at 1030 Logan street.

After a youthful bicycle rider was reported to have accidentally crashed the vehicle against a show window in front of the Brooks clothing store, Sycamore and Fourth streets, a thief reached through the broken glass case and stole six hats valued at $22.50 and 15 neckties valued at $12.30, police were informed yesterday. William Spurgeon Jr. informed police an out-of-town news vendor told him of the bicycle's crash.

Several noisy motorcycles and motorcycle riders were reported to be disturbing sleep of neighbors in the 400-block of South Bristol about 10:15 o'clock last night. Motorcycle Officers Ed Lentz and William Nielsen investigated but the disturbers had fled.

FORMER JOCKEY DEAD

ALTURAS, Cal., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Funeral services were held here today for Manuel Morris, 56-year-old Jockey, who died yesterday. Morris was a noted figure 30 years ago on California tracks.

the Austrian mountains, in Vienna, at Budapest, at Biarritz, at the Grand National steeplechase in England.

Then the prince became king, and Mrs. Ernest Simpson was mentioned in the court circular—the little official budget of royal news issued each night for publication in the newspapers. She and her husband were mentioned as attending a dinner at Buckingham palace, along with Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh and others, including a few political figures of note.

Cruise on Yacht
But last summer came the cruise of the yacht Nahlin to the Mediterranean, with Mrs. Simpson as one of the guests of the king. The king and Mrs. Simpson were photographed everywhere along the Adriatic coast, on the yacht, ashore, in rowboats with the king rowing. He seemed obviously happier than photographs ever had shown him, less strained and able to smile without a struggle.

Just last month Mrs. Simpson was one of the guests of the king at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. Now it is announced the king soon will visit Sandringham, the great country place in Norfolk of which the late King George was so fond—and which Edward was understood to have found immensely boring. Mrs. Simpson will be there.

Correction Made By Red Cross

In an article published in The Register Oct. 13 and referring to the Seal Beach chapter of the American Red Cross, it was erroneously stated that "Funds administered by the local chapter during the past year include—$5 applied on the annual salary of Dr. John Wehrly, chairman of the Santa Ana chapter."

The $5 referred to was the amount sent in by the Seal Beach branch of the Santa Ana chapter to apply on expenses of the County Council of the Red Cross and not on a salary for the county chairman. No chairman of the American Red Cross receives a salary. Dr. John Wehrly's services are voluntary as are the services of all members of the executive committee and board of directors of the organization.

TWO POEMS OF S. A. ATTORNEY ARE PUBLISHED

"American Voices—1936," an anthology of poems shortly to be published by Avon House of New York City, will include two poems by N. D. Meyer, Santa Ana attorney.

"City Lights" and "Forgotten Trails," both the work of the local lawyer, were accepted for the anthology, according to word received today by Meyer from the publishing house. Both poems will be considered in the awarding of prizes for the best work included. Poetry has been the hobby of the Santa Ana attorney for a number of years, he revealed today.

The two poems included in the Avon House anthology were selected for their "fine literary quality and beauty of expression," the publishers stated in their letter to Attorney Meyer.

13 LOSE LIVES IN INDIA RIOTS

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Hindus and Moslems fought a pitched battle in the center of the city tonight as a bitter climax to a day of rioting in which 13 were killed and 140 wounded.

The riots began when the Hindus started to build a temple in the Byculla district of Bombay, a suburb densely populated by Moslems, who objected.

When workmen began digging foundations for the new construction, the Moslems stoned them and drove them away. The building work was suspended and the fighting spread elsewhere through Bombay.

DENVER FEELS TREMOR

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 15.—(UP)—A slight tremor of brief duration was recorded on the Regis college seismograph at 9:57 a. m. today. The disturbances were described by the Rev. Armand Forstall as "very small, clear cut and very close," indicating it was confined to the Rocky Mountain region.

FOREIGN WARS VETS TO ENTER PARADE FLOAT

Plans for participation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Armistice day parade in Santa Ana were discussed last night at the meeting of the Orange county council of the organization. The meeting was held in Orange with Harold Troeller, of Fullerton, county council commander, presiding.

It was decided that the council, representing all Veterans of Foreign Wars posts in the county, will enter a float in the parade to be held in Santa Ana and will have a marching unit comprising members of all posts in the county in the line of march.

The next meeting of the post was scheduled to be held November 11 but was moved forward to November 4 when final plans for participation of the organization's float and marching unit will be completed.

FARMERS RECEIVE $127,000 IN YEAR

Rural rehabilitation loans, made to farmers of Orange county during the past year totaled $127,013 according to a report just released by the Resettlement Administration. The loans were made to 159 farmers in the county.

The report also revealed that 8572 farm families in California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona have received a total of $3,611,651 in loans of which they have repaid approximately $300,000. The loans are to run for from two to five years.

According to officials of the Resettlement Administration repayment of loans has increased more than $200,000 since June 30, indicating a definite improvement in western agriculture.

California farmers were the heaviest borrowers, requiring $1,875,839. Farmers in this state also have led in repayments with a total of $153,308.

Madigan Bawls Out Boy Friend Of Jean Harlow

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE, Oct. 14.—Jim Austin, star end for St. Mary's Galloping Gaels, today was trying to decide whether to play with St. Mary's or to play with Jean Harlow. Jim's name was linked with Jean's this summer after they were seen together at the Coconut Grove, famed Hollywood night spot. Yesterday Jean was a mysterious visitor in San Francisco and Jim was absent from Madigan's noon football lecture. At the afternoon practice Madigan roared: "Alright, Austin, You can play with St. Mary's or you can play with Jean Harlow, but you must do one or the other. I don't want any 'glamour boys' on my ball club."

JACK KNIFE CLUB HOLDS MEETING IN S. A. WEDNESDAY

The Jack-Knife club, 25-year-old organization of Orange county hardware dealers, met at the Green Cat cafe last night and heard an interesting talk on "Salesmanship," presented by Sam Worswick of Oakland. The dinner program also included a report on the semi-annual meeting of Southern California hardware dealers, held October 2, at the California hotel in San Bernardino under auspices of Los Angeles hardware jobbers.

According to W. A. Paxton, local hardware man and member of the club which was organized by Charles Kendall, F. P. Nickey and associates, Worswick stressed the smile as one of the greatest necessities in the field of successful business. "If you would attract people to your place of business, you must smile a friendly smile and mean it," Worswick, who spoke at the San Bernardino convention, declared. "You must express friendship if you would have many customers." He outlined all points necessary to operation of a successful hardware business.

J. V. Guyloff, secretary of the Southern California Retail Hardware Dealers' association, presented the report on the San Bernardino convention.

JURY NOT YET DRAWN TO TRY BOOKIES CASE

Having exhausted the regular jury panel without completing a jury in the case of three Anaheim men charged with book-making, and with receiving bets outside of a licensed racetrack enclosure, attorneys in the case today were drawing upon a special venire summoned late yesterday.

Robert Lusk, William A. Hale and Paul Engel, all of Anaheim, are defendants in the case, being tried in Superior Judge H. G. Ames court.

Prosecution and defense each have 25 peremptory challenges available, and the defense yesterday exercised 18, so that the regular jury panel was used up by 4:30, and Judge Ames ordered a special venire of 50 summoned. These reported this morning.

Court observers expressed doubt that the jury would be completed before late today.

BIG BROADCAST IS HELD OVER ONE DAY

"The Big Broadcast," now playing at the Fox Broadway theater which was to have closed yesterday, has been held over another day and will close with tonight's performance.

Tomorrow "Two in a Crowd" with Joan Bennett and Joel McCrea will open and for a companion picture has "East Meets West" with George Arliss, supported by Lucille Mannheim and Godfrey Tearle.

POWER PARLEY IN HOLLYWOOD

Leaders of the electrical industry in Southern California will meet in Hollywood today and tomorrow for the annual fall convocation of the Pacific Coast Electrical Association. More than 150 association members, representing virtually every branch of the electrical business, are to attend the sessions at the Roosevelt hotel. Santa Ana representation in the association includes electrical dealers and distributors, contractors and power company officials.

Fred R. Lewis, a former Orange county man, now vice president and general manager of the Southern California Edison company and president of the coast-wide association, will direct the program of discussion of administrative, operation and sales problems.

The electrical industry has moved forward steadily since it first took its place as one of the nation's major industries," Mr. Lewis said. "There have been, however, certain periods of special emphasis when it seemed advisable to pause, take stock of the situation, make some appraisal of new operations and to make necessary adjustments for another forward step. Today the industry here in Southern California is facing new problems accompanied by opportunities far exceeding anything in its previous history."

"The Pacific Coast Electrical association represents an industry dedicated to public service in the broadest sense and its members have a distinct obligation. Public attention has been focused sharply here in Southern California on the benefits of greater electrification. The completion of the Boulder Dam project, with its power to supplement the existing steam-electric and hydro-electric power, re-emphasizes Southern California's leadership in electrical development."

One of the features of the two-day convocation will be the celebration Thursday night of Pacific Coast Electrical association night at the Electrical Age Exposition in Los Angeles. The exposition, at the Pan-Pacific Auditorium Oct. 10-15, is being held under the sponsorship of the Electrical Development League of Southern California.

20-30 CLUBS TO HOLD JOINT MEET

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—Members of the 20-30 club are to meet jointly with members of the Santa Ana and Anaheim 20-30 clubs at a meeting to be held at the Knights of Pythias hall in the last named city Monday at 6:30 p. m., according to plans made last night at a meeting of the Orange club at the Sunshine Broller.

Stewart N. White, coach at the Orange Union High school, discussed minor changes in football rules for 1936, telling the reasons for the changes. Melvin Clement was program chairman and Don Gulleage was in the chair.

WPA SHAKEUP IS RESULT OF WORRY OVER BOONDOGLING

BY GEORGE E. HART

Yesterday's shake-up of the administrative staff at WPA bears out grapevine information from Democratic circles, that they are worried over the public standing of our old acquaintance, Boon Doggie. So worried, indeed, that there is a desperate plan afoot to make him appear respectable.

They have even changed the spelling of his name to Boone, and it is understood they will try to trace a relationship with the famous Kentucky pioneer.

While it may be true that old Daniel occasionally leaned on his rifle, that hardly seems to justify the punishment to his memory now contemplated by the Democrats. Even while he was leaning, Daniel was getting somewhere.

In any event, the present plan must prove abortive, for friend Doggie undoubtedly will rebel when his unerring instinct scents the labor risk attached to respectability.

Boon Doggie, if you recall, was the chap who developed the malarkey known as Bourbon backache, after the regrettable accident caused by termites eating through the handle of his shovel.

There was occasion for neither surprise nor terror. You'll notice that Mr. Mulherson's announcement was carefully worded; it didn't say anything about payroll being eliminated—just payroll accounting. And the five ten-per centers will do their duplicating in some other department of WPA, he admitted.

For the information of the uninitiated, it is just as easy to duplicate in one department of WPA as another. All departments are equipped with mattress service.

The Colonel's son, Lance, is a high-living young blood, who had formerly been under the spell of Lucille, and who gallops through the story, bold, drink-ridden, but not without charm. The Colonel's younger brother, Ralph, with whom the Colonel quarrels over the respective merits of wheat farming and gold, and from whom he buys for $100,000 his brother's share of the ranch, proves to be a pretty poor sort of a person whom you can thoroughly dislike.

His wife, Rosanne, is a pretty, sensation-seeking trouble-maker, whose clever fingers weave traps for first one and then another of the characters, with her venom concentrated on Serena.

It would be hard to find a book with swifter action, more color. It is as vigorous and untamed as the times and region it pictures. Its tie-up with early celebrities in San Francisco is strangely real. John L. Sullivan, Senator Hearst, those hard-living millionaires on Nob Hill!

LET'S TALK ABOUT BOOKS BY ETHEL K. LOCKWOOD

LUSTY READING

I don't know why I was surprised when I read "Gold Is Where You Find It," the new Clements Ripley novel, released by D. Appleton-Century Company. I think I must have been prepared for "just another story" of the gold rush. Or, just having finished that splendid book, San Francisco's Chinatown, which touched more or less on the gold rush country, I was all set for more fact material.

At any rate, I got a pleasant shock, which I would like to pass on to you. "Gold Is Where You Find It," is a bang-up good novel, swift-moving, dramatic, satisfying. It covers the period from 1870 to 1880, after the first gold rush excitement had died down, and hydraulic mining had just begun.

The love story centers around Jared Whitely, a young Vermont engineer, and Serena, young daughter of Colonel Ferris, one-time southerner, now ranching near Marysville. Serena is a vigorous young person, who has wangled fifty acres of land out of her father, and is going in for fruit raising. The ranchers, fighting the encroaching "slicekens" from the hydraulic mines, are bitter against the miners, and the situation is not one to encourage the growth of true love.

But the story belongs to Colonel Ferris, hard-drinking, hard-driving son of the old south, who, at sixty, fell for the blandishments of Lucille, a cheap, little blonde, and split his homelife wide open.

The Colonel's son, Lance, is a high-living young blood, who had formerly been under the spell of Lucille, and who gallops through the story, bold, drink-ridden, but not without charm. The Colonel's younger brother, Ralph, with whom the Colonel quarrels over the respective merits of wheat farming and gold, and from whom he buys for $100,000 his brother's share of the ranch, proves to be a pretty poor sort of a person whom you can thoroughly dislike.

His wife, Rosanne, is a pretty, sensation-seeking trouble-maker, whose clever fingers weave traps for first one and then another of the characters, with her venom concentrated on Serena.

It would be hard to find a book with swifter action, more color. It is as vigorous and untamed as the times and region it pictures. Its tie-up with early celebrities in San Francisco is strangely real. John L. Sullivan, Senator Hearst, those hard-living millionaires on Nob Hill!

Don't miss reading "Gold Is Where You Find It," if you like good, plain-speaking fiction that gets somewhere.

NEW ZANE GREY NOVEL

It wouldn't be fair to call a book as dramatic and well-written as Zane Grey's "The Lost Wagon Trail" (released by Harper & Brothers) another "western." Set in the west, true, but covering so much territory with its action, you have a much broader picture than you could possibly hope to get from a run-of-the-mill western novel.

This is pioneer stuff, bloody, powerful.

Stephen Latch, a young southerner, disgraced through the trickery of a companion, flees from his home territory at the close of the Civil War, and joins forces with Satana, the vicious leader of a band of Kiowas. The lost wagon train, headed by John Bowden, in a prairie schooner shaped like a boat, and brightened by the presence of lovely young Cynthia, his niece, meets disaster at the hands of Satana and Latch, and Latch, horrified, learns that Cynthia is the girl he loves, and for whom he fled the south, and sought revenge and forgetfulness in outlawry.

The book covers a period of twenty years. Time brings regeneration to Latch, and a lovely daughter whose love story brings a satisfactory finish to the tense, exciting tale.

ORANGE COUNTY MINISTERS TO PREACH SAFETY

The Santa Ana Ministerial Association together with clergy of all Orange county, have completed plans to devote next Sunday, October 18, to a "Sunday of Safety" in co-operation with the safety program sponsored by Traffic Safety Service, Inc.

One hundred and twenty-nine churches in this county are expected to participate in the observance.

Ministers of Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and Orange as well as all clergy of smaller communities, will use the text, "Always drive safely, lest you be next" for the subject of sermons, addresses and talks to their respective congregations.

Clergy of Orange county enthusiastically endorse the program of Traffic Safety Service, Inc., to make every man, woman and child, both pedestrian and motorist, safety-minded through a statewide traffic safety educational campaign.

Leaders of the movement point out that success of this huge undertaking relies on co-operation of all civil social and business associations, churches, clubs, lodges, leagues, school and other organizations of the state, a financial budget sufficient to do the necessary job consistently and completely, the use of all educational advertising media to reach all the motorists and pedestrians continually throughout the year and proper presentation of the entire program to the masses.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14. — I ambert, Joan Crawford, Dolores Del Rio and Mrs. Gary Cooper, devotees of time and money to the cause. Members of her committee say she is by far their most enthusiastic worker.

I am still giggling over a retort magnificent which I heard at Malibu last Sunday. Halliwell Hobbes, the English actor (plays butler roles) was the red-faced target. He was being ribbed by a group of friends, one saying, "Halliwell, you've lived in this country most of your life and earned your money here. Why don't you become a citizen?" "Listen, my good fellows," Hobbes replied, "I was born an Englishman, raised an Englishman, and will die an Englishman." At which a wit-about-town piped, "What's the matter, have you no ambition?"

Shirley Ross, supplanting Jane Froman in the cast of "The Big Broadcast of 1937," again brings to light Miss Froman's pathetic affliction. Blessed with a beautiful singing voice, she came to movies from radio and won recognition in her first picture (Stars Over Broadway). Unfortunately for her career, she stutters when she speaks (not when she sings). Following that first movie, she went east to take a "stuttering cure," after which she returned to Hollywood. Paramount officials heard of her cure and called her for "Big Broadcast," but she was not signed to contract until she had undergone this test:

A publicity staff member was assigned to get her life story. It was his job to excite her, make her angry, arouse her to the point of berating him for his insolence. If she stuttered, she would get no contract. But Jane did not falter once, and elated moguls hastily grabbed her name on the dotted line. She went to work next day—and muffed her every scene by stammering.

To Jane's credit (by the way, she is a delightful person), she has not surrendered the fight. The test with the publicity man proved to her that she can talk without stuttering. She is convinced that her case is mental; that by home practice before a microphone, she can overcome her handicap.

NEGRO IS PROVIDED WITH PANTS; LEAVES

The seat of trouble for James Weston, 19-year-old New York City Negro, yesterday afternoon was just exactly that, he informed Officers Harry Fink and R. S. Elliott when they went to investigate complaint of a local woman that Weston was begging clothes. Weston, with a jacket tied about his waist, explained to the officers that the seat of his pants were torn out and he had no nudist colony inclinations. Weston said he was en route to Colton and other points east. After checking police records at the sheriff's of-

NEW BUSINESS FIRM ACCEPTS 10-YEAR LEASE

Construction of a modern store building at 207 East Fourth street is scheduled to start this week following the award yesterday of a building contract to George A. Barrows, well-known Santa Ana contractor.

Built by the S. H. Finley company on the property recently acquired by that organization from the First National Bank in Santa Ana, the store will house a men's furnishing store to be opened by Samuel T. Shane, formerly of San Bernardino.

The building will cost approximately $5500 and will be a thoroughly modern, one-story stucco store-room. The building and property together represent an investment of approximately $20,000.

According to E. S. Goodner who handled leasing arrangements for the property, Shane has signed a 10-year lease for the building and property. It is expected that the store will be completed and ready for occupancy not later than December 1.

Shane has made his home in San Bernardino for many years where he has engaged in the men's furnishing business with his brother, doing business under the name of Shane Brothers. In San Bernardino he was considered one of the leaders in business and civic affairs.

Recently he sold his interests there to his brother and started looking for a new location. Deciding upon Santa Ana after visiting many Southern California communities Shane announced that in addition to opening a store here he is planning to move his family to Santa Ana and make this city his permanent home.

Progress in devising watches was stimulated by the need of a good timepiece for determining longitude at sea.

And, finding Weston without a record, the officers sent him on his way. But first, they provided him with a more worthy pair of trousers.

LOCAL COLLEGE STUDENTS WILL TALK POLITICS

Political platforms of the various candidates for president will be in for some close scrutiny Wednesday, Oct. 21, when four members of the Junior Forum class at Santa Ana Junior college will discuss the various platforms.

Selection of students to talk on the various platforms and arguments of the candidates were made yesterday. Calvin C. Flint, instructor, indicated that the speeches are not to be presented with a biased opinion, but with the thought of studying the platforms from a purely factual standpoint.

Edward Velarde will discuss the points of the Democratic party for which President Roosevelt stands while Dick Tauber will speak on those of the Republican candidate, Alfred M. Landon. Byron Curry and Elbert Stewart will talk on the programs of the Communist and Socialist candidates, William Browder and Norman Thomas, respectively.

This is the first time that such a discourse has been held. It is the objective of the Junior Forum class to present the facts of world economic and social problems with a mind open to all sides, according to Mr. Flint.

enough to throw their crutches at the doctor.

Private Monopoly
The struggle against private monopoly is a struggle for and not against, American business. It is a struggle to preserve individual enterprise and economic freedom.

I believe in individualism. I believe in it in the arts, the sciences and professions. I believe in individualism in all of these things—up to the point where the individualist starts to operate at the expense of society. American business men do not believe in it beyond that point.

We have all suffered in the past from individualism run wild—society has suffered and business has suffered.

Government Solvent
Believing in the solvency of business, the solvency of farmers and the solvency of workers, I believe also in the solvency of government. Your government is solvent.

The net Federal debt today is lower in proportion to the income of the nation and in proportion to the wealth of the nation than it was on March 4, 1933.

In the future it will become lower still because with the rising tide of national income and national wealth, the very causes of our emergency spending are disappearing, government expenditures are coming down and government income is going up. The opportunities for private enterprise will continue to expand.

Power of Wealth
The people of America have no quarrel with business. They insist only that the power of concentrated wealth shall not be abused.

We have come through a hard struggle to preserve democracy in America. Where other nations in other parts of the world have lost the fight, we have won.

The business men of America and all other citizens have joined in a firm resolve to hold the fruits of that victory—to cling to the old ideal upon which America has grown great.

During the first half of 1936, Canadian production of creamery butter showed an 8 per cent increase over 1935.

REAL BUSINESS RECOVERY PROMISED BY GOV. LANDON IN GRAND RAPIDS ADDRESS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 15.—The text of Gov. Landon's speech here last night follows:

It is a real pleasure for me to be here with you in Grand Rapids tonight. The outside world never thinks of your city without being reminded of good furniture. Like so many Americans I have spent a good deal of my life in close contact with Grand Rapids furniture. If some of you come out to visit me I shall be glad to make you comfortable in a Grand Rapids chair.

Tribute to Craft
The craftsmen whose skill is responsible for the success of your famous industry here did not start by discarding good designs which are still famous, even though some of them go back 'way beyond the horse and buggy days. On the contrary, they cherished and respected them. They retained some, improved upon others and created, in addition, new designs of their own.

Need in Government
This is typical of the people of the United States. They are a progressive people. That is one reason why America is the hope of the world. As people we recognize that the best government is a progressive application of old truths.

We want forward-looking liberal government, but government based upon principles that have stood the test of time and experience. We know from history and from the hard school of experience that we desert the old truths only at our peril.

By liberal government we mean a government liberal enough in its outlook on life not to mistake mere change for progress. We do not mean the kind of government we have been getting at Washington during the last three and one-half years that has confused change with progress and too often has been liberal only in the spending of other people's money.

Balancing Budget
And speaking of liberality, let me say here what I said east and west. If I am elected Chief Executive the budget is going to be balanced, but it is not going to be balanced by depriving our needy unemployed of the relief that is their right until they can recover real jobs at real wages. It is not going to be balanced by denying aid to the American which he ought to have, and which I believe the nation wants him to have.

It is going to be balanced by substituting good administration for bad at Washington, by cutting out waste, inefficiency and extravagance and by using relief funds for relief purposes instead of squandering them on the building up of an insidious political machine. Anyone who tells you to the contrary is guilty of trifling with the truth for the sole purpose of attempting to obtain votes under false pretense.

Way to Recovery
Once the government at Washington has been restored to an efficient and constitutional basis, there is going to be a general revival of confidence throughout the country. And confidence is the forerunner of real recovery.

What do we mean by real recovery? We mean a revival of agriculture, commerce and labor that will offer our unemployed real jobs again at the best of good wages. This is the only permanent cure for unemployment. How can anybody say that happy days are here again for the American people when so many millions of our fellow-citizens are still out of work and so many more millions still in need of relief?

Poorest Record
Under this administration we made the poorest record in our history in recovering from hard times. Those nations who did not try to squander their way out of the depression are much farther along the road to recovery than our own. They have less unemployment today than at any time since the great war ended.

In contrast, our primary need today is jobs for the unemployed. That need is just as great as it was in 1933.

The country has been ripe for recovery for the last two years. We are far behind in expenditures for upkeep and improvements and for expansion.

Demand Waiting
The total of this demand—in industry, in new enterprises, in our homes and on our farms—amounts to billions of dollars. Once all this consumer demand is released, the problem will not be where to find jobs for the unemployed. The task then will be where to find workers for the work.

Nobody can fool the American people. They know recovery when they see it, and many millions of

CANDIDATES TO JAYSEE POSTS ARE NOMINATED

Primary elections were run off yesterday for officers for the sophomore class of the Santa Ana Junior college. Results from the primary will not be revealed until Friday, according to Vic Rowland, president of the Associated Students and chairman of the election.

The polls were open in College hall on the North Main campus from 8 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Approximately 100 sophomores voted. The contestants for the offices, following the check-ups for eligibility and qualifications, consists of: president, Vernon Koepsel and Charles McIntyre; vice president, Fred Lentz, Max Galusha, and John Ramirez; secretary, Mary Elizabeth Heaney; and treasurer, Henrietta Rurup, Marjane Belcher and Betty Lee.

Finals will be held early next week, according to President Rowland.

According to ancient custom, a Mohammedan, on meeting a person, may shake hands with thumbs up, then touch his breast, forehead, and lips with his hand to show that the one he greets is cherished in his heart and thoughts and entitled to a kiss.

Arabs were the first foreign merchants of whom there is a record.

They are getting tired of having it delayed time after time.

We have not made as much progress in coming out of this depression as we have a reasonable right to expect. No one can hide that fact.

HARRY GRAYSON ACTION SHOWS ACTION

Five years ago a horse of which much was expected came to the turf. His name was Action and he was a chestnut son of the once great distance horse, Olambala, out of Violet Play. Violet Play with a daughter of Fair Play, marvelous sire of the line of imported Australian horses and the sire of Man of War, among others.

Action was bred by R. T. Wilson, a breeder of great note. In those days people still hoped for something great from Olambala, and Action, as his name would suggest, was one which could keep the line going. But Action turned out as disappointing as had the majority of the offspring of Olambala.

Tried in the crucible of racing, he enjoyed only indifferent success, and then only in claiming events. Distances of a mile to a mile and an eighth seemed to suit him best, and he raced among players of the $3500 class.

Action changed hands several times, and then, because of his size and conformation, passed into the hands of the Sanford Stables. There he was broken for steeplechasing, with the hope that he would have the same success that many another stable had achieved when using sound, well-made, but slow horses for jumping.

But here again Action was a failure. He raced only among the cheaper chasers and got nowhere at all. Here was a well-bred, well-made stallion which had failed to prove his worth either at flat racing or at steeplechasing.

JACOBS' SKILL COUNTS Hirsch Jacobs, America's leading trainer for the last several years, saw the horse and liked him. He bought Action for his wife's account for $1000.

Jacobs thrives on the mistakes of other and more famous trainers. He takes well-bred failures from rich stables and makes consistent winners out of them.

He had that in mind for the 7-year-old Action, a failure for five years under half a dozen trainers, on the flat and over the jumps. But other trainers, knowing Action, thought he'd at last jumped off the deep end. But they figured without Jacobs' ability.

Hirsch Jacobs is the great genius of the training ranks. He has no Granvilles in his stables, nor any Cavalades. He seldom has much to start with, but he knows how to make what he has blossom into class of sorts and stay there. His horses are in shape when they run and they run to win.

So far this year this horse has won more than 12 races, and for several years they've been winning around that number for him. Lameness and sickness seem to shun his stables, and horses which were often on the hospital lists miraculously regain their health and best form under his knowing eye.

Action, a five-year failure, has won 11 of his last 12 starts and finished second in the other under Jacobs' handling. He started down among the lowlier players and, as he improved, Jacobs sent him after the higher ones. By the last of September he had the aging horse in top shape, and sent him out in one of America's famous races, the Manhattan Handicap.

FIRETHORN ATE DUST Dark Secret, one of our greatest distance cup horses, made this race famous. And though it is just a conditioner of a mile and a half for the two-mile Jockey Club Gold Cup, it is one of the best handicaps offered each year. Its purse is about five times the purchasing price Hirsch Jacobs paid for the chestnut.

Action won the race as easily as any he has run this year, and in doing so humbled so good a horse as Firethorn, winner of the Gold Cup last year. Many experts say that Firethorn, which is troubled with lameness, is second only to Discovery and Granville among American equines. Yet he was out of the money in the race Action ran.

Mrs. Miller Wins Match Play Golf Finishing four down, Mrs. Cliff Miller won a match play tournament for women at the Willowick Golf club yesterday. Mrs. Pearl Adams, five down, placed second.

FOOTE PONDER'S LINEUP SHIFT FOR CHAFFEY

"Hold that Tiger" will be Santa Ana high school's theme song tomorrow when the Saint footballers go to that neutral field for their first game with a Chaffey eleven since the days of Don Williams, Jeff Cravath and the rest of the Saint wonder boys of 1921.

The Chaffey Tiger is a tamer animal than usual this year, having dropped earlier games with Colton and the Redlands universi-ty freshmen, but Coach Bill Foote is taking nothing for granted. He says he'll start the strongest lineup he can muster.

There will be changes in that "strongest lineup." For one thing, Coach Foote is pondering the idea of starting Joe Kadowaki instead of Bill Musick at fullback, and Mark Stewart has just about beaten the crippled Ferris Wall out of his starting job at right tackle. Mitsuo Nitta is a doubtful starter at left end because of a wrenched knee. So Jim O'Connell will get the call.

There also is a good chance that Captain Dwight Nott, fleet right half, will not be in there, either. Nott's leg was kicked a week or so ago and the soreness has spread down to his ankle. Coach Foote says Nott probably will play part time but red-headed Al Patterson is likely to start.

If Foote goes through with the idea of using Kadowaki at fullback, Tucker will open at quarter, with Len Stafford at left half and Patterson at right half. O'Connell and Stump will be on the wings, Milligan and Stewart at tackle, Maddock and Moyer at guard, Warhurst at center.

Chaffey is a non-league opponent and Foote hasn't even come to the trouble of having the Tigers scouted. They use the Warner system because Coach Howard Mitchell was one of "Pop" Warner's quarterbacks at Stanford a decade or so ago. It will be the first time the Saints have faced this style of play this year. The experience should come in handy next week when the Footmen take on Long Beach Poly, which employs a modified version of Warner's attack.

The fullback is the key man in Chaffey's offense so the Saints will have to watch Al Cummings, Mitchell's hefty ball-handler. He is a big boy, an all-Citrus Belt league choice last year.

MICHIGAN QUARTER GIVES UP FOOTBALL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Concussion of the brain caused by an injury in a football game two weeks ago, caused Chris Everhardus, star quarterback of the University of Michigan to quit football permanently today.

Everhardus announced that he had been afflicted by recurring dizzy spells ever since he was injured during the Michigan-Michigan State contest. His physicians, he said, warned him against further participation in athletics.

The star's decision came on the eve of Michigan's encounter with Minnesota at Minneapolis, and caused Coach Harry Kipke to make drastic revisions in his plans. Everhardus said he suffered a severe blow on the head while tackling a Michigan State player. In the Indiana game, which was won by the Hoosiers, 14-3, Everhardus kicked the field goal early in the first quarter which brought Michigan its only score.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG; NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Our Mr. Floyd Blower, California's No. 1 left halfback, or tailback if you must, occupied 24 inches of hardwood on the bench of Portland's Multnomah field throughout last week's Oregon State game. The published pretext for Blower's absence was a groin injury, which was rank subterfuge. Real reason: Blower was deliberately withheld to rest his barking dogs for a full shift of journeyman labor against U.C.L.A. Saturday. All of which is swell from Cal's viewpoint; not so from the Santa Ana's All-America possibilities.

Some of the bookies in Orange county took a terrific shelling from the "wise money" day before yesterday. It happened in the fifth at Rockingham. A plug called Almira romped home, paying across the board $20, $10.20 and $8.40. One Santa Ana had $10 on him three ways. One of the out-of-town bookies, clipped for $750, pulled stakes, has not been seen since.

Lawrence Coffing, Eddie Holmes, Roy Langley and Benny and George Osterman are back from the Jackson Hole country in Wyoming. Each brought down an elk, saw no moose. Which reminds that George Briggs, the Santa Ana big game hunter, considers his recent expedition into Alaska the worst he ever made, probably will not return to the north country. He was laid up with rheumatism about half his available hunting days and vile weather spoiled a lot of the others.

Tommy Sullivan, the Iowa State transfer at Santa Ana jaysee who won the low hurdles in the Big Six freshmen meet last year in 24.7 seconds, is also an accomplished oil painter. They're good enough to exhibit. Harold Pangle, Al Rebo's blocker at Santa Ana and later one of the best interferences in the Pacific Coast conference, says he's through with pro football in three more years. He's making $650 a month with the Chicago Cardinals.

They say the reason behind the reason for Chaffey's sudden willingness to play night football is a conference ruling, not a change of heart by the Ontario powers-that-be. The Eastern division has a

CHAFFEY'S LINE IS BIG, ROUGH, TOUGH

By DUNCAN CLARK Santa Ana's Dons were tarin' to go again today after a fine work yesterday in which part of the veterans redeemed themselves for their sloppy playing on the practice field early this week. Tomorrow night's game with Chaffey in the Bowl promises plenty of trouble for the Dons and plenty of excitement for the cash customers.

It's a big, powerful Chaffey Panther team that meets Danny Don. Coach Burt Heiser's 1936 edition is liberally studded with Chaffey high school stars of the 1934 championship team that went to the C. I. F. finals. He has a powerful backfield and a line that is the biggest and best in Chaffey history. He has two teams and refuses to name a first one.

Chaffey writers and fans compare this team with the days of Keough, Dornin, Evans, Glass and Walker when they ran roughshod through Eastern conference opponents. Returning lettermen are Leonard Smith, Ray Orr, out with a broken foot, Francis Johnson, Leon Utman, Tully Cassattelli, "Bucky" Cross, Gaylor Wager, George Wright and Jack Frost.

Among the many fresh stars in Heiser's fold are Fred Studler of Claremont high, who is supposed to be able to do everything but mow the turf; Jim Osburn, a 240-pound Chaffey high boy, who has a first string tackle berth clinched, and William Ladd, 220-pound center from Chaffey high. When both these heavyweights are in the lineup they boost the line average over the 200 pound mark.

VARGAS FACES HARD-HITTING JOHNNY WILKES

Last week's heavyweight thriller in the league to play its games at night if its field is equipped for nocturnal contests. Chaffey's park is lighted even if its stadium is still under construction; therefore the Panthers must play at night when on the road. For years Coach Burt Heiser scorned night football. Right or wrong, rival coaches laid his stubbornness to a belief that Chaffey had an advantage playing at daytime when the other teams were accustomed to night ball.

Coach Bill Cook wonders if the co-captains of his Don football team, Johnny Leinhardt and Al Tucker, will beat the longtime hoodo that befell jaysee leaders. For five successive seasons Santa Ana captains went out for the season with injuries. Jimmy Hall started the strange spell which also took Jack Fredericks, Al Kluthe, Mike Santa Cruz, "Bono" Koral. Last year Cook beat the rap by appointing same-burgame captain. At the football banquet at the end of the season Walt Hickman was elected captain. Next day he was in the hospital, under the knife for appendicitis.

No better proof that the depression is waning is necessary than the return of bowling. Alley after alley folded when times were tough because bowling is a workman's sport. The new Santa Ana establishment launches a "house league" next week. The alley has just been resurfaced in anticipation of a fullsome winter. Since bowling faded out five years ago a new crop of keggers has popped up but some of the old-timers are limbering up. In that class come Bill Gordon, Bill Wolfe, Henry Christman, Mace Uoyd, Floyd Mitchell, "Uncle" Horace Snow, Ralph O'Hair and Ike Tucker.

All-America Larry Lutz makes his first appearance in Los Angeles as a paid-to-play pigskin Sunday. He'll be with the Salinas Icebergs who take on the Los Angeles Bulldogs at Gilmore Stadium. Lutz passed up a contract at $130 a game with the Boston Redskins to complete his course at California, which doesn't prevent his picking up some side dough every week-end.

WASHINGTON STATE CRIPPLES RECOVER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The Washington State Cougars were en route to Los Angeles today after a brief stop-over here. Coach "Babe" Hollingberry said he will use Bob Fletcher, halfback, and Roger Dougherty, fullback against the Southern Californians Saturday. Both players have recovered from injuries.

ALLISON SPEEDS UP CALIFORNIA'S DRILL

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—(UP)—University of California's first string eleven was scheduled to drill defensively against U. C. L. A. plays today as Coach "Stub" Allison maintained a grueling training pace preparatory to the Bruin game Saturday.

WILLARD 'C' TEAM BEATS TUSTIN, 21-6

BY JOE MIXER Inspired by Harold Montana's 80-yard dash yesterday, Franches Willard junior high school's football team pounded out a 21-6 victory over Tustin's Class C eleven yesterday.

Montana scored again from the one-yard line. Later, Hull crossed the line on a pass and a 40-yard run.

The Willard "Cees" have some fine material this season with such players as Ernest Joseph, Forrest Paul, Joe Estraka, Joe Hayes, Jack Stoguer, Alfred Morgan, Mike Chaires, Ted Finster, Clarence Harvey, Mack Miller, Earl Brown, Lawrence Coffing, Daryl Sherfy, Alfred Lopez, Bill Meyer, Harold Montana, Ross Barnes, Vincent Mitchell, Ray Valencia, Ralph Quzman and John Bowden. The lineup:

NORTHWESTERN COACH PUZZLED AT CITY BOWL

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 15.—Northwestern football practice was over, and Lynn Waldorf, big, mild-mannered coach whose hair is streaked with gray at 31, came into the coaches' locker room with a perplexed expression on his face.

"I don't know what kind of a team we have," said Waldorf. "I actually don't know whether we're good, bad or terrible." "But there's one consolation, we won't be in doubt much longer. Ohio State will let us know Saturday. And I fear the worst."

The Northwestern-Ohio State battle at Dyche stadium before a crowd of 40,000 is likely to prove one of the "key" games of the race.

The winner will step up as the No. 1 threat to dethrone Minnesota as Western conference champion. A victory for Northwestern would make the Northwestern-Minnesota game Oct. 31 as a probable championship battle. A victory for Ohio State would tab the Buckeyes as co-favorites to share the title with Minnesota for another year. Minnesota and Ohio State do not play.

The collapse of Ohio State's offense in the Pitt game has encouraged hopes of Northwestern supporters for a victory, but not Waldorf.

"Pitt has one of the best teams in the country and was able to beat Ohio State only 6 to 0," said Waldorf. "The failure of Ohio's offense to click against Pitt is likely to react to Northwestern's detriment."

Schmidt's razzle-dazzle is likely to be red hot against us," Waldorf's chief worry is how to stop the Buckeyes' aerial attack, which he fears although statistics of the Pitt game show Ohio State gained only 19 yards through the air.

"Our pass defense looked bad against Iowa and North Dakota State," said Waldorf. "We had 12 out of 26 passes completed on, so you see what a real passing team like Ohio State might do."

Northwestern has conquered Iowa, 18-7, and North Dakota State, 40-7, in its two games, looking more impressive than last year when it eked out a 14-0 victory over De Paul and lost to Purdue, 7-0, in the two openers.

BREA, ANAHEIM FAVORITES IN SPLIT LEAGUE

Inaugurating their new major and minor classifications which are expected to put competition on a more even keel, the Orange league's football teams plunge into the cauldron of conference competition for the first time tomorrow.

Five games are scheduled, all beginning at 3 p. m. They are:

Orange at Brea-Olinda (exhibition). Valencia at Tustin (Minor league).

Laguna Beach at San Juan Capistrano (Minor league). Newport Harbor at Huntington Beach (Major league).

Garden Grove at Anaheim (Major league).

Five schools are huddled in each division. The Major league embraces Orange, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Anaheim and Newport Harbor. In the Minor section are Tustin, Brea-Olinda, Valencia, Laguna Beach and San Juan Capistrano.

Brea, Anaheim Favorites There has to be a favorite so the boys who guess are picking Brea-Olinda in the Minor and Anaheim in the Major. They were the finalists last fall. Brea-Olinda's defending champions can hardly miss in the Minor, they say, but Anaheim's claim to the title is challenged by Orange as well as Huntington Beach, with Newport Harbor "feared" and Garden Grove "respected." A tie for first place would not be surprising in the Major wheel.

Since Orange and Brea draw a bye in their respective leagues tomorrow they've agreed to mix in an exhibition at Brea. "Shorty" Smith's Wildcats will have their hands full with Stewart White's improving Panthers. Both clubs have been weakened by injuries. Ray Amling, Orange's first string tackle, now being added to the distressing "out-for-season" list on account of a cracked vertebrae, Brea has lost its quarterback and an end but still shapes up as a powerful contender with 11 lettermen, including most of last year's linemen.

Opening their league schedule at home against the Valencia Tigers, Bill Cole's Tustin grid-ders will face one of their strongest opponents in their quest of the Minor league championship. If the Tillers get by this one they might throw a scare into Brea-Olinda for Valencia has 10 lettermen.

The Farmers will be underdogs, due to the running and passing of

BALSAMO BELTS OUT SEELING IN FIRST

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Harry Balsamo, one of the most sensational middleweight fighters since the rise of Paul Berlenbach, emerged today as a challenger for Freddie Steele's title.

The belting New York subway brakeman virtually clinched a title shot at Steele by knocking out Eric Seelig, a tough little German-Jew, in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at the Hippodrome last night. It was Balsamo's sixteenth kayo in 20 professional fights and the first time that Seelig had ever experienced defeat in that manner in more than five years.

'COMMUNITY SHOW' WILL BE HELD AT POLY H. S. FRIDAY

Motion pictures featuring stars of yesterday when films were but crude, flickering shadows with organ music, dazzling feats of magic in which dollars are transformed into pigeons and fire produced where no fire should be, present—all these today were ready to be presented to citizens of Santa Ana in the big "Community Show" which starts at 8 p. m. Friday in the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school auditorium.

Gifts for free distribution are selected and ready, entertainers are waiting to be called and a capacity crowd for the lively show is assured, Ames Crawford, master of ceremonies, said today.

Douglas Fairbanks of acrobatic fame, the early Charley Chaplin of the baggy pants, shuffling Lloyd Hamilton and romantic Rudolph Valentino, together with a galaxy of leading ladies of the past generation, will be seen in an unusual short picture, "The Film Parade."

There will be a comedy and a third entertaining film, "Spirit of '36."

Marilyn the magic man, one of Southern California's noted magicians, will give an uncanny demonstration of his ability to deceive the eye with skillful magic.

From radio's famed "California Hour" will come a 20-piece accordion band to play a 15-minute concert of popular songs.

A talented Negro quartet, "Four Gentlemen From the Southland," will entertain the audience with "harmony in color."

The free gifts will be distributed after the entertainment. Free tickets may still be obtained from any chain store in the area, it was announced by Harold Wright, chairman. Wright said merchants of Santa Ana are cooperating fully with the program chairman.

The world's most intensively cultivated ground is said to be an area of 1000 acres under glass in Hertfordshire, Eng.

RADIO NEWS

Kathryn Cravens, who has become known as the "Flying Commentator," because of her extensive use of planes in covering stories, will broadcast in her new series entitled "News Through a Woman's Eyes" over the Columbia network today from 2:30 to 2:45 p. m.

Aptly named, a new program known as "Lucky Stars" will introduce to the audience of the Pacific Coast two promising young singers, supported by Frederick Stark's Orchestra. The first of the new series, thus featuring Evelyn Schmidt, youthful coloratura soprano, and William Daze, gifted radio tenor, will be broadcast by KHJ and other stations of the Columbia-Don Lee Broadcasting System from 9:00 to 9:30 p. m. today.

Oscar Shaw, singing master-of-ceremonies of "Broadway Varieties," will introduce a new group of songs and a well-known galaxy of stars in the program over the Columbia network today from 5:00 to 5:30 p. m. Carmela Ponselle, former Metropolitan soprano, heads the billing, with Elizabeth Lenox joining Shaw in duets.

Dan Hefflin, Hollywood actor recently returned to New York, will be co-starred with Ned Weaver and Rita Johnson during the True Story Court of Human Relations program at 8:30 p. m. today, over the NBC-Red network.

"He Knew About Dames," a romantic comedy of small town American life, will be presented in the "Little Theater Off Times Square" during the First Nighter broadcast, at 7:00 p. m. today, over the NBC-Red network.

Jan Peerce's interpretation of that charming love-ballad, "Just Made to Kiss," will be one of the features of Rubinoff's "Musical Moments" program to be broadcast by KHJ from 9:45 to 10:00 p. m. today.

Vee Lawnhurst, popular composer-pianist, will present another colorful group of songs during her broadcast with the Charloettes, versatile Negro quartet over the nationwide Columbia network today from 4:30 to 4:45 p. m.

A full-hour concert will be offered by the NBC Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Arturo Bodanzky as an NBC Tenth Anniversary feature at 7:00 p. m. today, over the NBC-Blue network.

Bing Crosby will return to the Kraft Music Hall from his Hawaiian vacation and for the occasion Bob Burns will have Ruth Chatterton, screen star, Elisabeth Bergner, Metropolitan prima donna, and Slip Madigan, coach of St. Mary's Flying Gulls there to welcome him back during the broadcast over the NBC-Red Network between 7:00 and 8:00 p. m. today.

Dr. E. Ford Barber, dentist of Jersey Shore, Pa., whose hobby is playing the violin, will be non-professional guest artist during the Music Is My Hobby program at 4:15 p. m. today over the NBC-Blue Network.

If you can use EXTRA CASH this fall, fix up a room and rent it through inexpensive want ads. The demand for pleasant heated rooms will be far in excess of the supply. The rent money will pay your fuel bill.

If you can use EXTRA CASH this fall, sell a used stove, furniture, radio, piano, etc., through inexpensive want ads. There is an acute shortage of good used furniture. Many, recently married and starting housekeeping, want to buy what you no longer need.

If you can use EXTRA CASH this fall for NEW clothing inexpensive little want ads will SELL the used clothing you have outgrown or no longer need, especially furs, dresses, suits, etc. Others SELL this way — why not you?

If you are still using a car that is eating up money with repair bills and is unsafe for that trip, why not trade it NOW before the NEW models arrive and it is a year older and worth LESS. Turn now to the used car ads in the want ads.

If you own a business and want to sell it, fall is the BEST time and little want ads the most inexpensive way to SELL it. As a result of better times many with cash will see and answer your descriptive ad in the want ads.

If you have a used piano, horn, violin, xylophone, guitar, accordion or musical instrument, you can sell it through INEXPENSIVE want ads to some of the many who want a used instrument for practice when they take up music this fall. Want ads do it.

If you have a home near a school that you will SELL, place an inexpensive want ad fully describing it, NOW. Many families, unable to rent because of the home shortage, and with the money to buy, will see your ad in the want ads.

If you have fryers, grapes, tomatoes, potatoes, eggs, cattle, used farm machinery, or even a farm that you wish to sell, this is the time of year to bring people to you, and the inexpensive timely way is to use want ads to tell all and reach all.

OGLE CHUCKLES ACROSS DESERT

It is said a pleasant smile will go a long, long way. But a chuckle may carry you from Nogales, Arizona to Santa Ana, California and maybe farther—say maybe even into the middle of next week! Joel Ogle, Santa Ana attorney, will vouch for it.

Returning toward Santa Ana a few days ago from "ridin' through the wilderness of Sonora, Mexico, alone on a week's business trip and thirsty for conversation with a fellow American after being silenced in a foreign land with only an occasional interpreter to help him along the way, Ogle arrived at Nogales, Arizona.

Lonesome, in need of a chat with someone who could talk his lingo, Ogle hurried on. He kept watching far down the road ahead for some friendly hitch-hiker who might like to ride and chat. At the outer edge of Nogales stood a clean-cut lad of 17 or 18 years, waiting with the inevitable thumb up and at attention.

"Now to untie a few of the good old American words," thought Ogle as he halted the car. The youth smiled almost joyfully, showed his suitcase in the rear compartment, climbed in.

Youth is Mute
"How far are you going?" asked Ogle quickly. The youth made no answer. "Still pretty warm down here, isn't it?" queried Ogle. No answer. As Ogle turned in surprise at the silence, the youth handed him a note. It said: "I am deaf and dumb, my friend. Please write down what you have to say on this paper."

And Ogle began to chuckle. The youth wore a puzzled look as though wondering if Ogle were not suffering from the "heebie-jeebies" or if he were not a bit "pikilated"—"teched in the head." Not to embarrass the youth, Ogle gave a plausible explanation.

"But every few miles along the way home—694 miles—I had to take out a few minutes to chuckle," Ogle said today. "Among all of the hitch-hikers to choose from, I couldn't have picked a deaf mute a second time in 20,000 miles of travel. To me, it was the funniest, not to mention the most surprising, part of my trip."

Exchanges Notes
By frequent exchange of notes, Ogle learned the youth lived in St. Paul, Minnesota, had, by accident, got off the main highway, and was returning to Tucson, Arizona to catch a ride in a more northeasterly direction. After leaving the youth at Tucson, Ogle didn't pick up any more hitch-hikers. He had a chuckle to keep him company all the way home.

Ogle's business trip, which took him to Nogales, Bisbee and, in Mexico, to Naco and then, 61 miles below the border, to the town of Cananea, was made to assist in transferring silver mine properties from the original owner, Otto Hackel, German-born Mexican who became a Mexican citizen during the World War when he refused to fight with the United States against his fatherland, to a newly-formed corporation in which Ogle is interested. Hackel discovered the silver mine, located 15 miles south of Bocoachic—which is 43 miles southeast of Cananea—in 1921.

Ogle, who is studying Spanish this week in contemplation of his next trip into Mexico, expects to leave October 23 for Cananea; this time he will go farther south, to the mine, and then to Arizpe, where he reports is the first Spanish mission of the North American continent. Montezuma had his headquarters there in the sixteenth century when Cortez came, saw and conquered, Ogle says, and Ogle expects to make the next trip one of pleasure as well as business. Homer M. Derr, local mining engineer and one time geology teacher for Ralph Arnold, famed geologist at Cornell University, expects to accompany Ogle on an inspection of the mine property, Ogle declared.

"And Derr is neither a deaf mute nor Mexican," Ogle added to a chuckle.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

POKER—

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—If the man in the street is worrying about Mr. Morgenthau's latest monetary move, he should stop right now, and turn to the funnies.

What Mr. Morgenthau did a few weeks ago was to agree with John Bull and La Belle France that they would play a respectable three-handed monetary poker game, according to Hoyle, with no kicking under the table and only the usual amount of bluffing. What he did the other day was to agree that they will use gold for chips as expected, the same chips at the same $35 per ounce value which he has been buying and selling to the same people since January, 1934.

It makes very little difference to anyone except Mr. Morgenthau, John Bull and La Belle France, and not much difference to them, as they assumed as much. There was no other way to play.

IF'S—

The progress of the second move over the first has been called many things, including "the creation of a new gold standard."

A more accurate term would be "a tentative gold standard." Likewise it has been called, officially, "the second step" toward stabilization. Rather it is the drawing of the lagging foot up to the position of the first foot. It represented no forward motion.

The only actual progress of the whole business to date is that France has been drawn by devaluation into the monetary status quo which has been preserved between the United States and Britain for many months.

It would be a real new gold standard if all parties had not reserved the right to devalue further, if they had not reserved the right to cancel their gold arrangement on 24 hours' notice, if the other nations, like Italy and Germany, were strong enough to go into a free gold agreement, if Britain were committed to a gold standard, if, if, if.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING—

What will come out of it no one knows, the goal, of course, is stabilization on a gold basis, but that is still beyond the horizon of current events. Italy has strengthened herself by devaluation, but not enough. Germany must now seek to promote her world markets, to sell more than she buys, to establish a balance of trade. Then there is the enigmatic future of Japan.

In months and perhaps years, if there is no war, and things work out perfectly for all concerned, world stabilization may be effected. However, there is no need for anyone to stay up nights waiting for it.

Meanwhile, the statements which Mr. Morgenthau has been issuing about it, should be charged up to the campaign fund and reported to the clerk of the house, under the political expenditures law.

MOTIONS—

The A. F. of L. has come out for labor peace. Mr. Dubinsky is for peace. Mr. Zaritsky is for peace. And, finally, Mr. John L. Lewis has reluctantly admitted he has been for peace all the time. Therefore, it may appear, that, as everyone is for peace, there will be peace. But there won't be.

The opposing labor factions are for peace in the same way as international statesmen. They want it at their own price. Underneath, neither side is in a comprising mood. Certain motions have to be made for effect, merely because they cannot be openly opposed.

The supposition is general among those who know the inside of current negotiations that the peace moves will be lost in an accumulation of committees and sub-committees. Nothing can keep the trouble out of the A. F. of L. convention next month, they say. Nothing will even induce Green to let the C. I. O. crowd sit in on the convention, where they might be able to oust him as president of the A. F. of L. When such fundamental questions of purpose, life and jobs are at stake, there is generally no way out but war.

POLITICAL NOTES—

Good bets, if you can, get them:

Borah to be re-elected; Bricker, Republican, to win the Ohio governorship; Christiansen, Republican, for the senate in Minnesota.

Practically no important money is being bet on the election at the published odds or any others. The political experts are betting only on states.

The Republicans will probably pick up three seats in Iowa, which makes their old expectation of a net minimum gain of 50 seem safe.

Usually, by this time, most of the political experts have put pillows on the ground and crawled out on their respective limbs with predictions on the outcome, but not this year. None of the impartial, and few of the partial, have climbed themselves.

"Gly-Cas gave me results that had been made to seem impossible by the failures of so many other remedies," said Mrs. Lena Mausa, 1234 C. St., Eureka, Cal. "For many years I had been in ill health unable to find anything to help me in the least. My kidneys were giving me considerable trouble. My back was full of pain constantly, action too frequent, could not get a good night's sleep or rest and was worn-out all of the time. Indigestion added to my distress, my stomach would sour and fill with gas after every meal I ate. I had taken so much medicine without results I had lost faith in them all—I was thoroughly disgusted with the EXAGGERATED CLAIMS of most every medicine on the market today and did not know where to turn next. When I began to hear so much praise for this new Gly-Cas I will frankly admit I did not believe it—BUT GLY-CAS WAS DIFFERENT—and today I have good health again."

"Gly-Cas benefitted me quickly, yet in a mild manner," she continued, "I eat regular now, nothing causes me suffering, kidneys are normal, sleep fine and my former strength and energy has been restored. Suffering people today should get Gly-Cas at once—for there is nothing JUST AS GOOD for it has no equal."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy Drug Company, 108 W. 4th Street, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

ANAHEIM CITY
INCOME SETS
ALL TIME MARK

Last month's receipts in the Anaheim public service department were the largest in the history of the city, William J. Lake, comptroller, reported to the city council this week. Receipts amounted to $24,466.55, or approximately $700 higher than the previous month or higher than September of last year, the peak month of the year.

Mr. Lake explains the high receipts as the result of increased pumping of water for irrigation purposes during a hot September. This month they will fall off again. Of the receipts $6412.14 was from power, $11,523.74 from lights, $6473.58 from water and $610 from penalties. Delinquencies dropped off during the month from $589.91 delinquent on August 31 to $577.62 on September 30.

There were 21 light wiring permits issued, one power and ten light fixture permits, netting the city $110.10. The deep-well turbine pumps ran 672 hours and 35 minutes, pumping 48,405,480 gallons. The water level is now 149 feet, 7 inches.

Building permits brought the city $245 last month while business licenses netted $295.40, with dog licenses amounting to $12. The city collector collected $3473.12. The amount taken in for delinquent taxes, penalties, personal property tax and vital statistics was reported at $955.75. The delinquent tax list has been reduced to $694.14. At one time it stood at $23,000.

Garbage paid the city $98.10. There were $226.40 reported in plunger receipts for the month. Judge Frank Tausch took in $1129 in fines.

Among expenditures during the month was $65.38 for city welfare work and $1445.66 for operation of the library. Warrants on the general fund for the past three weeks amounted to $1871.53, for bonds and interest $10,634.58, while drawn on the meter deposit was $191.54, and on the special gas tax and street improvement fund, $53.77, making a total of $30, 598.09 drawn on the city treasury since the last council meeting.

Other activities reported by the department heads included the season's report on the plunger, which closed September 15. There was $650.85 taken in during the season with 25,266 swimmers recorded. For the first part of September 1775 swimmers netted the city $226.40 in receipts. The picnic grounds were crowded every Sunday during the month.

Mrs. Mona Price made 148 calls in the interest of welfare, aiding 87 people in 21 families and spending $312 per family. Police arrested 41 drunks, 12 drunk drivers, one for burglary, one for battery, one for petit theft, one for violation of the A. B. C. act and two for violation of the California Penal code. They reported one car stolen and recovered two, closed 29 doors and windows and patrolled four funerals. They gave 33 citations for violation of the city traffic ordinance and 22 for violation of the California Vehicle code.

Of these Judge Tausch collected fines from 50, sent 20 to jail, gave one suspended sentence, remanded three to juvenile court, and handled two felonies which were turned over to the district attorney.

The council heard a report on an investigation into the whereabouts of a WPA project for laying of water mains across Manchester and around the application apparently lost between San Francisco and Washington. They ordered further communication in regard to it. The work is being done anyway by city employees.

MEXICAN POLICE DARE- DEVILS VISIT SANTA ANA

Seven expert riders from the Mexico City police motorcycle detail who were honor guests at a luncheon here today. These seven members of the squad who are in Los Angeles on a good will tour visited Santa Ana returning the visit of Chief of Police Floyd Howard who visited and was entertained by the Mexico City police department this summer. Saturday night these daring riders will give an exhibition of motorcycle "stunt" riding in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl.

COUNTY CITRUS STRIKE NOT FAVORED BY MOST WORKERS

(Editor's Note: Following is the seventh of a series of articles on the labor situation in Orange county. Material for these articles was prepared by the Orange County Protective Association.)

A MAJORITY of the pickers of the county did not belong to the Union, and only a small minority of the pickers wished to strike. This strike as well as the other strikes in Orange and Los Angeles counties was forced on the workers by continued intimidations and threats followed up by enough violence, sabotage and personal attacks to make the intimidations successful.

Not only was the strike called (Mexican labor organization of Mexico). Of 13 attorneys appearing in behalf of arrested strikers and agitators, 11 were from outside Orange county and of these all but one or two were attorneys connected with radical or communist defense organizations or attorneys who regularly defend such cases.

From this conglomerate of areas, organizations and attorneys you can well understand the statement made that the strike contained more diverse elements of radical agitation and more complications than has ever been known in an agricultural strike any place, any time. In fact we have intentionally omitted some presumably misinformed individuals and groups who entered the controversy.

Mexicans Divided
In addition to the named conditions a most peculiar situation naturally arises over the division in Mexican political thought. The Mexicans are mainly divided between the followers of Cardenas and Calles. These followers have two separate labor unions in Mexico. The Cardenistas belonging to the newly formed liberal union known as the C.T.M., this union is favored and fostered by the government forces. The other union is the old C.R.O.M., this union was patterned after the American Federation of Labor. Its leader was Louis Morones, its loyalty was to Calles. The attitude of these two groups led to a division of opinion in the strike and according to a published interview with a prominent Mexican official in Southern California at the time, had much to do with the attitude and action of consular officials.

Another interesting as well as puzzling situation which at times is almost humorous was the part played by the Mexican consul and one of his either actual, alleged, believed, denied, and altogether rather mysterious consular representatives, vice consul, assistant, or whatever he may be, one Lucas Lucio.

Consul Hill Involved
Suffice to say Consul Hill as previously stated by various statements and facts was rather deeply involved in the entire union set up and the consequential strike. Mr. Hill has returned to Mexico for an extended vacation.

The growers are as anxious as any one else for amicable and friendly relations with our Mexican neighbors on the south. We are even more anxious to have the friendship and respect of our own Mexican workers and residents. If we are left alone we are sure that we can work out our problems together. We can assure our workers that we will do our best to treat them fairly and that every employer will pledge himself to meet his employees at any time to listen to any reasonable complaint they may have and to sincerely try to adjust any errors.

AT COLLEGE TO NAME PLEDGES

Eleven pledges will soon be chosen from the 34 rushees of the Buccaneer's club, jaycee men's service club, according to Max Galusha, keeper of the club's log. Recently rushees and members met for an impromptu "feed" at Jack Fisher's park on Flower street.

Because the Buccaneer's membership is limited to 25 members, only 11 new students can be made members this semester. There are 14 active sophomore members. Pledges will be required to submit to a lengthy term of initiation.

Pledges are chosen by the Buccaneer's for leadership, scholastic ability, and achievements. Buccaneer officers for this semester are Bill Sheppard, skipper; Bob Bradley, first mate; Max Galusha, keeper of the log, and Madden Dietrich, boatswain, Thomas E. Williams is the club adviser.

Rushees present at the party at Fisher park included Bill Keeton, Art Salisbury, Bob Wilde, Kenneth Oliphant, Jerry Hawkins, Kenneth Conrad, Melvin Smith, Glenn Walker, Fred Baehr, Bud Knoff, Ralph Fuller, Jack Schilling, Jerry Rowland, George Aupperle, Bill Lenzie, John Tullett, Dick Phillips, Bill Higley, Kenneth Marshall, Erwin Youell, Paul Wolven, James Noakes, Ed Velarde, Al Pickhardt, Jack Wilkie, Phil Yould, Charles Shields, Dave Wettlin, Warren Kennedy, Russell Roquet, Cyril Nichols, Bob Paul, John Sherwick and Arnold Fickie.

Rushees of Los Gatos Santa Ana Junior college men's service club were honored recently at a dinner in the Rossmore cafe. Approximately 40 members and rushees were present at the meeting held to introduce the rushees to the ideals and purposes of the club. Pledges will be selected from the rushees in the near future by the active members. Those pledges chosen will immediately be made to serve a lengthy term of pledge-ship.

Ideals embodied by Los Gatos are fellowship, social activity and service to the college. This men's club has the largest membership of the four college service clubs. Officers of the club are Paul Christ, president; Charles McIntyre, vice president; Muryl Hallman, secretary; James Herrin, treasurer, and John Ramirez and Bob Reif, sergeants-at-arms. Frederick H. Schoeder and Harry P. Jackson are the club advisers.

Rushees at the welcoming banquet were Ernest Rogers, Erwin Youell, Al Pickhardt, Jerry Hawkins, Bob Wilde, Bill Keeton, Jack Wood, Wayne Gray, Bill Brooks, Don Randall, Jerry Roland, Norman Caldwell, Carrol Joy, Gordon West, Eldon Richards, Kenneth Marshall, Ed Velarde, Dick Phillips, Jack Schilling, John Jensen, Paul Wolven, Herbert Lyman and Lawrence Trickey.

PROPOSITION NO. 4
ENDORSED BY NSGW

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—Proposition 4 on the November ballot has been endorsed by the Native Sons of the Golden West, Hartley Russell, president, announced in San Francisco, according to word received here today by the California Recreation and Conservation Council.

Satisfactory solution to several related problems is provided by the measure, according to Russell, who stated that the measure forever prohibits tideland oil drilling. "By giving the state the power to regulate and supervise orderly development of the states petroleum resources, a large amount of new revenue can be provided. A part would be used for financing the fine state park and beach system. A part would be used for reducing taxes," Russell declared.

Parlors of the organization throughout the state will aid in the educational campaign in behalf of the measure, Russell stated.

OPEN SCHOOL
LAND FOR OIL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 15.—Possibility that a new oil producing area will be opened to include property now used by the high school came nearer a reality today when it was learned that the Fairfield well is in oil sand and has been coring for the past few days.

According to reports from the field the sand is heavily saturated and a highly profitable well is practically assured.

The well is located on an acre site just west of the high school tennis courts and Jones Athletic field. The school board granted a lease to the entire school tract in behalf of the Fairfield organization but drilling operations are being confined to the single acre. Officials of the company plan to whipstock wells in the acre to all sections of the 15-acre high school property.

In past years the school had a well on the ground. It netted the school approximately $300,000 before it was abandoned, and this money was used to build the new high school, the taxpayers adding $200,000 to the sum, to give the district one of the finest school plants in the state.

The present oil lease provides for one-sixth royalty of oil and gas to the school. The old lease paid the school 40 per cent royalty. The better conditions in the oil field, then new, enabled the better deal years ago it is said.

Fairfield expects to have the first well under his lease on production within the next week or 10 days at the outside. There is a good gas pressure and the well should pay the school somewhere between $25 and $50 a day, it is estimated by Ray Fie, field executive for Fairfield.

Miss Harbert
Reveals News
Of Betrothal

Once again Cupid has broken into the ranks of Sigma Theta sorority, this time to bring about the engagement of Miss Kathryn Harbert and Van Pomeroy, whose betrothal and November wedding plans were revealed last night at a sorority party.

The affair had its setting in the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harbert, 2050 South Broadway. It was not until late in the evening that the romantic news was revealed by the hostess. Carrying out a Halloween theme in decorative details, she spread tables with orange and black cloths. On each plate with its pumpkin pie serving was a tiny pumpkin figure which bore the phrase, "Katy and Van, November 16."

It was revealed that the early winter wedding will be a formal event in Episcopal Church of the Messiah. Adding to the interest in the announcement, Miss Harbert displayed the handsome engagement ring which she had not yet worn publicly. Both she and Mr. Pomeroy attended Polytechnic high school and junior college. The bridegroom-to-be is owner of a service station in this city, and Miss Harbert is employed at Santa Ana Laundry.

During the sorority business meeting plans were made to hold formal initiation for Miss Margaret Thomas Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. George Bradley. October 28 will be the date of pledge ceremonies to be held in the Laguna Beach home of Miss Loretta Spangler.

Sharing the affair with Miss Harbert were the Misses Dorothy Preble, Joan Baker, Jeanette Lewis, Ruth Baker, Virginia Curry, Betty Wiswall, Eleanor Baldwin, Betty Spangler, Charlene Lowell, Barbara Horton, Louise Rurup, Gladys Marguerat, Mesdames Ray Cartwright, Charles Bain Jr., Ernest Stump Jr., George Bradley, Joseph Irwin and a pledge, Miss Thomas.

ATTEND WEDDING

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, 407 West Santa Clara avenue, were among the guests Monday evening at a smart wedding occurring in Hollywood when Miss Maxine Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd Adams of Rexburg, Idaho, became the bride of Stephen Clifton White, of Minneapolis. The bride is well known in the Southland, having attended University of Southern California. She is an Alpha Chi Omega sorority sister of Dr. and Mrs. Slabaugh's daughters, Mrs. Earl Holmington of Beverly Hills and Mrs. Russell Ragan of Palm Springs. The Holmingtons and the Ragans were guests at the wedding, with Mrs. Holmington assisting in serving refreshments.

With her lovely costume, the bride wore the same velvet panel which had been part of her attire five years ago when she was presented at court of the late King George of England.

The wedding occurred in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Stephen White, whose daughter, Miss Polly White, also a U. S. C. graduate, took this opportunity to announce her engagement to a Long Beach attorney, Miss White is achieving success as a writer, several of her articles having appeared in the Reader's Digest and other magazines.

Pretty Teas

That series of teas introduced so pleasantly the past week when three sister hostesses, Mesdames Alice Hill Hatch, Aldric Worswick and Elizabeth Hill, entertained Democratic women of their precinct, continues this week with a succession of similar events.

In Winter Home

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Paul Witmer presided at a pretty party in her home, 702 McFadden street, where interested women of the precinct called at intervals throughout the afternoon. To the home was lent all the blazing charm of autumn gardens, with flowers in every hue arranged about the rooms. They gave special loveliness to the tea table where Mrs. Rhoe Faust presided at the silver service.

In intervals of friendly chat Mrs. Worswick talked informally on "Gratitude," and Mrs. M. E. Geeting reviewed measures on the fall ballot, bringing many matters of general interest which she had gleaned at the convention of California League of Women Voters held recently at Santa Monica.

Mrs. Harwood Receives

Mrs. Frank Harwood opened her home at 1811 Durant street, yesterday afternoon, and stressed the patriotic theme quite strikingly with her tri-color appointments.

Those friends who sent flowers for the affair, were equally careful in their selection, so red, white and blue were uppermost in the graceful arrangements. Tall blue candles flickered on the tea table where Mrs. Joseph Peterson and Mrs. E. A. Schwarm presided. Red carnations, white gypsophila and blue delphinium tended their colors in the center of the table and matched the designs on the little tea cakes served.

Guests were interested in the opportunity of meeting Mrs. L. Beddeford, of Placentia, formerly a New York newspaper woman whose close associations with Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt in club work gave her many interesting anecdotes to relate. Mrs. David Wettlin, of Orange, also told of personal contacts with Mrs. Roosevelt at the Chicago convention of 1932.

In Enderle Home

Friendliness reigned supreme in the Maurice Enderle home on Yorba street yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Enderle, Mrs. F. M. Shaner and the Misses Clara and Matilda Enderle received.

Miss Clara Enderle's garden produced the greater number of flowers employed in decorating. Especially brilliant in coloring were the masses of baby zinnias used about the rooms, but in the dining room the arrangement of the tri-colors called for special comment.

The lace spread table bore many white tapes, and flower bowl and candlesticks were all in white. Color was lent by the flower arrangement itself, and especially effective was the combination of salvia in deep blue tones, with tiny white zinnias and royal crimson bougainvillea used to center the table.

Miss Clara Enderle poured tea during one interval, later surrendering her post to Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips. Mrs. Guy Christian assisted in various hostess duties. Mrs. Aldric Worswick's arrival was accompanied by banners and buttons publicizing the political convictions of the guests, and a great cluster of chrysanthemums and gypsophila.

Women calling during the afternoon hours, met two political candidates, Harry Westover and Clyde Watson, and heard them outline their platforms. Mrs. John Tessmann was another speaker, and Mrs. Clyde Watson talked entertainingly on her recent trip east, and the Slum Clearance project at Purdue in which her son, Frank Watson, is so interested.

Ebell Economics Group
Plans November
Benefit

Although Tuesday's meeting of Ebell Fifth Household Economics section in the clubhouse was the first of the season, members lost no time in outlining plans for a busy year which will be marked by a benefit card party November 5.

It was decided to stage the party in the clubhouse, with a fashion show and other special features to be included in entertainment of the afternoon. Committees for the event will be named in the near future, it was announced by the leader, Mrs. F. F. Mead.

Mrs. Mead, Mrs. L. E. Allen, Mrs. George Raymer and Mrs. D. E. Liggett were hostesses Tuesday, serving luncheon at small tables centered with clusters of flowers in yellow and orange tones.

Mrs. Fred Burlew gave an informative talk on weaving, displaying a number of woven articles.

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to bridge games in which Miss Clara Richards and Mrs. F. C. Rowland won prizes for scoring first and second high. Mrs. Charles Bowman received the surprise package.

Mrs. Rowland, Ebell president, and Mrs. Ralph Smedley were guests of the day.

Golden Wedding Pair

To observe yesterday of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bruns, 1209 Spurgeon street, was added the happy memory of that October day in 1886, when Miss Nellie Belle Long of La Ciede, Mo., became the bride of an ambitious young railroad man. Here are pictured Mr. and Mrs. Bruns as they are today, and below they are shown as they were when they exchanged wedding vows.

Wedding Date
Observed With Much Ceremony

"When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day" floated on the air last night as finale to the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bruns, and guests lingering in their home at 1209 Spurgeon street, felt that nothing could so well have expressed the solemn beauty of the occasion.

Undoubtedly it was a perfect day for this bride and bridegroom of a half century ago, and they completed its perfection by sharing part of it with their friends, approximately 200 of whom called during the evening. Although Mr. and Mrs. Bruns had emphasized that there were to be no gifts, that did not deter friends from sending flowers, and the whole home glowed with great golden or snowy chrysanthemums, roses, and the countless richly shaded blossoms of the season.

Rich Costumes
It was in this tower of bloom that friends were received, with the children of the hosts joining with their parents in extending greetings. Mrs. Bruns, smiling and lovely in black chiffon velvet with gold sandals, wore her bridegroom's tribute of Talisman roses in a long shoulder spray. She wore too, the heavy gold chain and ruby-set bracelets which had been her wedding gift fifty years ago when she, as Miss Nellie Belle Long of La Ciede, Mo., became his bride in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Long.

It was a double service in which two sisters, the Misses Nellie Belle and Edna, wedded two rising railroad men, G. E. Bruns and Lee Love.

In last night's receiving line with the celebrants were their eight children—by birth and marriage. Two of these had special cause for celebrating, for just 22 years ago, E. E. Bruns, eldest son of the home, and Miss Bessie Lucy of Santa Ana, were wedded. This second bride last night was gowned in velvet of Spanish green. Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Bruns, the latter wearing peacock blue crepe, and Mrs. Plummer Bruns and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cribaro completed the group. Mrs. Plummer Bruns chose velvet for her costume in deep fuchsia red tones, and Mrs. Cribaro's gown, also of chiffon velvet, was in Royal blue.

The three granddaughters were quite as smartly gowned, and each wore a chaplet of gardenias in her hair. Mrs. Harry Bradley (Helen Belle Bruns) wearing rust taffeta, and Miss Nellie Elizabeth Cribaro in black crepe lace, were stationed at the silver tea and coffee urns in the dining room. Miss Virginia Belle Bruns in formal shirtmaker style of pastel flowered taffeta, had charge of the guest book.

Table Appointments
In the dining room, where wedding cake with flower decorations and loaves were served, the table was in bridal white with touches of gold for the anniversary. Spread with a banquet cloth in Italian embroidery and flax lace, it was centered with triple mirrors on which rested a white bowl with matching smaller vases, filled with a fragrant mass of white roses, chrysanthemums and carnations starred with tiny silver bouquet tapers. The mirrors were edged with white blossoms, and at either end were exquisite tiny figures of bride and bridegroom.

White and gold china was used, and the dainties of the menu were arranged on gold encrusted service plates which like the gold sugar and cream sets, were among anniversary gifts. An equally handsome gift in use was the big wall mirror from Mrs. Bruns' Chapter A. B. P. E. O.

Musical Numbers
At intervals throughout the evening were musical numbers. All special favorites with the celebrants. Miss Marguerite Pimental sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Sweetest Story Ever Told" with Miss Margaret Davies as accompanist. John Hart Stout played such violin numbers as Schubert's "Ave Maria" and the Wedding March from Lohengrin with Miss Olive Schweitzer as accompanist, and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" with Miss Esther Vogt at the piano. Miss Schweitzer played two piano solos, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Trees."

Mrs. George A. Warner sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and "Juanita," accompaniments for which were played by Miss Vogt, and Mrs. Fred Heim sang "To Jack Snow's piano accompaniment, "I Love You Truly," "The Old Refrain," and the final musical feature of the evening, "End of a Perfect Day."

Prominent among the guests were four whose close friendship dates back to many years of association in the former family home, Hannibal, Mo. They were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell now of Hollywood, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mennie who arrived Monday night to be here for the anniversary. Mrs. O'Donnell wore a composite costume of coronation blue crepe, and Mrs. Mennie wore a velvet-banded turquoise taffeta dinner gown.

Guests represented friends of many years' happy associations of Mr. and Mrs. Bruns in First M. E. church, Masonry, Odd Fellows, Ebell, P. E. O. and similar club and social circles of the city in which both are prominent.

Family Dinner
The intimate family observance of the anniversary had been staged at mid-day, when the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruns, Mrs. Richard Cribaro, had taken the lead with co-operation of her sisters-in-law, in preparing an elaborate turkey dinner, duplicated

Guests Are Assembled
For Luncheon and Contract

Those pleasant bridge luncheons which friends so frequently are invited to share in the James E. Liebig home, 820 Spurgeon street, continued yesterday with another equally enjoyable one at which Mrs. Liebig entertained a score or more guests.

Her own beautiful begonias yielded their rich blossoms for much of the decorative effect achieved in the home, while autumn shades in chrysanthemums completed the charm of the flower appointments. Small tables at which luncheon courses were served in advance of the afternoon's contract play, were given an inviting appearance by the crystal compotes of preserves used as centerpieces between sprays of pompon dahlias laid flat on the glossy linen. Place cards were retained for tallying bridge scores in the subsequent games.

Mrs. John Wehrly made the afternoon's high score, and was delighted with the little cloisonne rose bowl filled with its fragrant pot-pourri. Mrs. Charles Kendall with second high score, received an artistic flower vase in creamery pottery.

Mrs. Liebig had the assistance of her niece, Mrs. Don Andrews, in all details of her hospitality and her guest list included also Mesdames Cood Adams, William W. Armstrong, J. F. Burke, Maxwell Burke, L. A. Collier, Charles Druitt, A. M. Gardner, J. E. Gowen, H. B. Hill, Arthur Lyon, F. F. Mead, Tarver Montgomery, Sam W. Nau, C. O. Norton, J. E. Paul, W. D. Ranney, George Raymer, Anna Richards, F. W. Slabaugh, J. S. Smart, Theo. Weinbiger, Clyde Walker, John Wehrly and Adam Zaiser.

Club Presents Gifts
To Charlene Lowell

Invited to Miss Charlene Lowell's home, 926 North Olive street, Tuesday afternoon, bridge club members took the opportunity to stage a surprise canned goods shower on the hostess. The marriage of Miss Lowell and Britton Bowker will occur November 7 in St. Mary's Episcopal church, Laguna Beach.

Gifts were presented to the bride-elect early in the afternoon. Card play in which Mrs. George Bradley scored high, was preceded by the serving of a dessert course.

In the group with Miss Lowell and Mrs. Bradley were Mesdames Q. L. Hardy, William Jerome Jr., Joseph Irwin, Bruce Harding, Dr. Roy Dickson and Stanley Norton.

COLLEGE REUNION

Orange county alumni of Colorado State College of Education were reminded today of an annual alumni meeting to be held Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in Rosslyn hotel, Fifth and Main streets, Los Angeles.

Dinner will be served, and a program will be given, it was announced today by Miss Pearl Nicholson, 1911 Spurgeon street, secretary of the alumni group. Reservations are to be made with her.

Daughters of Veterans

Sarah A. Rounds tent Daughters of Union Veterans will hold a covered-dish luncheon tomorrow at noon in the home of Mrs. Anna Shefflin, Costa Mesa, with each member to provide her own table service. Mrs. Anna Corad and Mrs. Grace Benjamin will be assisting hostesses.

Plans for the affair were furthered Tuesday when the tent met in the hall, with Mrs. Thomas Overton presiding. Announcement was made that Southern California Federation of Daughters of Union Veterans will meet October 29 at 10 a. m. in Los Angeles Patriotic hall.

Sons and Daughters of Veterans will join in holding a covered-dish dinner October 23 at 6:30 p. m. in the hall.

Contract Club
Now Launching
Autumn Series

It was pleasant indeed for members of a dinner bridge club to resume associations this week as a formal group after the customary lapse in semi-monthly meetings during the summer months. And it was especially pleasant to stage their first autumn meeting with Mrs. Sarah Johnston Haddon in her home at 2021-2 South Sycamore street. For her son Johnston Haddon, second engineer on the S. S. Golden Hind, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation and joined with his mother in welcoming the dinner guests.

The two tables where the club members found places for the dinner courses, were charming studies in blue and white, with flowers in soft pastel tones of blue combining with the beautiful nary in the color scheme.

The dinner and its subsequent contract play was the initial one for two new members, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Holmes, who complete a club group made up of Mrs. Haddon, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Z. B. West Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Timmons and Lieut. Com. and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis.

John Smallman Will Be
Musical Arts Guest

That Musical Arts club is to have the pleasure of entertaining John Smallman, Los Angeles voice teacher and choral director of note, at their dinner meeting next Tuesday night in the Doris Kathryn, was the announcement made today by Miss Ruth Armstrong, club program chairman, and her co-worker, Holly Lash Vise.

In accepting the club's invitation for the evening, Mr. Smallman suggested that his talk on summer experiences in Europe, would be given informally as guests lingered about the dinner table. He will tell some of his interesting research work, and his discovery of rare old musical compositions. Also he will be accompanied from the city by a soloist who will add songs to the program.

Santa Ana club members are quite proud of the fact that theirs is the privilege of introducing this noted musician whose first fame was gained from his remarkable a capella choir. Their only regret is that only a few guests will be able to share the evening with them, for the Doris Kathryn can accommodate only about four dozen diners. Reservations must be made by Monday with Miss Armstrong, Telephone 3636-J. Dinner will be at 6:30 o'clock and the talk and music will follow.

Informal Affair Held
In Home of
Mrs. Chad Harwood

Receiving a little group of guests yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Chad Harwood (Jacqueline Sherrard) was hostess at a pleasant affair in her home, 1524 North Sycamore street.

Mrs. Harwood's mother and an aunt, Mrs. B. W. Sherrard and Mrs. G. B. W. Sherrard of Los Angeles were here for the afternoon, sharing the affair with Mrs. Anton Segerstrom and Dr. Harwood's mother, Mrs. D. A. Harwood of this city and Mrs. Thomas Rhone of Orange.

Yellow blossoms from the gardens of the D. A. Harwood home were used in decorating for the event, which reached a happy conclusion with the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Chad Harwood is a charming addition to the younger social set of the community, her marriage to the young physician having taken place in midsummer in Saint Matthias Episcopal church of Whittier. Dr. and Mrs. Harwood expect to spend the weekend in Los Angeles with Mr. and Mrs. Sherrard.

Typographical Group
Plans Various Events

Mrs. Ida Linnell and William E. Smiley sang duet numbers, "Beautiful Isle" and "Abide With Me", accompanied by Mrs. Florence Donegan at the organ.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Helen Morris; one son, Jack Morris of Orange; one sister, Mrs. George Howell, of Perth Amboy, N. J.; three brothers, John of Summit, N. J.; Sim, of New Brunswick, N. J.; and Parker, of Freehold, N. J.

Mr. Morris was a member of the Baptist church of Oakland. He moved to Orange from Beverly Hills a month ago and was born in New Brunswick, N. J.

Propositions Are Discussed At Meet

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—Members of the Athletic club of St. John's Lutheran church heard a discussion of propositions to come before voters of the state at the November election, given by Ted Craig at a meeting held at Walker Memorial hall Tuesday evening. Craig gave both sides of each question and a general discussion period followed.

Nelson Dierker, president in the absence of the president, Alvin Klausmeyer and Nelson Struck was in charge of the program. About 45 were present.

WEST ORANGE FARM CENTER ELECTS HEADS

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—Officers were elected yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the West Orange Home department held at the home of Mrs. Fred Gerdes, Mrs. W. B. Gibson, chairman of the nominating committee appointed at a previous session announced the selection of the following officers: Chairman, Mrs. J. F. Mueller; vice chairman, Lewis Walker; secretary, Mrs. Robert A. Goetz; director, Mrs. C. S. Minter.

Mrs. Royal Mueller who recently returned from a trip to Germany told of German kitchens where a year's supply of meat for a family is cooked and canned at one time.

Mrs. Frances Liles, home demonstration agent for the Orange County Farm Bureau, told of the modern kitchen. She declared that a kitchen has seven important "C's" which are convenience, color, compactness, comfort, cheerfulness, cleanliness and co-operativeness.

Present were Mesdames George Juente, Fred Ahlefeld, J. T. Crimmins, W. L. Vose, C. W. Todd, Charles McQuillan, E. J. Flaherty, W. B. Gibson, J. G. Bratsch, R. J. Mueller, William M. Cory, C. W. Leonard, Harold Bushman, Perry Grout and Miss Helen Meyer.

SEEK HOME FOR DOG

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—A home for a beautiful grey poodle dog, gentle and fond of children, is being sought by J. B. Fairchild, poundmaster of the city of Orange. The dog is a female and evidently was lost as it was found wandering around the city. Another lost dog in the pound is a Boston bull terrier, evidently a family pet which was wearing a harness when found.

Berries From Iowa Woods Are Received

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—An annual shipment of bitter sweet berries from Iowa woods has been received from friends in that state by Mrs. C. F. Rowell, 739 West LaVeta avenue, who has shared a similar gift with the Orange Public Library for a number of years.

The vases of berries in the library at present recall to those who have lived winter woods brightened with the bushes covered with the orange berries broken by the frost into three upcurving sections which reveal a triangular center of deep red.

OLIVE LUTHERANS HEAR TRAVELOGUE

OLIVE, Oct. 15.—The Aid Association for Lutherans' branch at Olive enjoyed a most interesting and entertaining travelogue after the business meeting at the parish hall Wednesday evening. Mrs. J. L. Clayton took her audience over the Pacific to Honolulu, Japan, China, Singapore, through the Suez Canal, Cairo, Italy, Switzerland, Austria and Germany, giving a fascinating portrayal of the people in the home life and customs. After the lecture Mr. and Mrs. Clayton displayed garments, trinkets and examples of hand-made needlework.

At the business session it was decided to have a potluck supper Friday, November 13th at 6:30 p. m., the date of the annual meeting with election of officers. Fred Kahlen of Anaheim announced the Federation Convention to be held at Walker Hall, Orange Sunday, Oct. 25, 2:30 p. m. The business session is to be followed by a banquet, served by the Martha Society of St. John's church.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were served by Mrs. August Lemke, Mrs. Herman Lemke, Mrs. Henry Lemke and Miss Norma Lemke.

Pastor's Wife Is Honored at Party

EL MODENA, Oct. 15.—The Ladies Bazaar and the Men's Bible classes of the El Modena Friends church successfully carried out plans recently for a birthday surprise party for the pastor's wife, Mrs. J. S. Sorenson.

At the close of the delightful evening spent in playing games and chatting, birthday cake and hot chocolate were served by the guests to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. Al Haddon, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brubaker, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Granger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fowler, Mrs. John Turner, Mrs. Robert Mapson, Mrs. Clarence Sawyer, Mrs. Doris Gray, Mrs. Mary Lentz, Mrs. Ella Hayden, Miss Dorothy Alma Gray and Miss Gracemarie Sorenson.

HALLOWE'EN IS SETTING FOR ANNOUNCEMENT

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Armstrong of East Walnut avenue Wednesday evening announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruby Armstrong to William Philip Goulden, son of Mrs. Dorothy Goulden of Alturas, Calif.

Hollywood bridge was the diversion of the evening with first prize going to Miss Margaret Kreidt of Olive, and consolation to Miss Nora Wunderlich. Guessing games followed Hollywood bridge, two in number, in which Mrs. Merrill Bauer of Santa Ana, and Miss Ethel Arrowsmith of Orange, won prizes. Miss Frances Nuckols entertained with a group of piano selections during the evening.

The Armstrong home carried out the Halloween motif in all decorations and flowers and guests assumed that they were attending a Halloween party. The surprise of the evening was the opening of tiny favors which disclosed the following news: "Ruby - Will - January 6, 1937."

Refreshments of pumpkin pie and whipped cream and coffee were served by the hostess, Mrs. W. C. Armstrong to the following: Mrs. Merrill Bauer of Santa Ana, Mesdames H. H. Witman, T. E. Arrowsmith, Frank Brown, B. J. Morey, H. P. Sottley, C. W. Crowe, Mark Weseloh, Norman Bailey, of Orange; and the Misses Mary Moore, Virginia Buhrmann, Ethel Arrowsmith, Agnes Andrews, Eleanor Buckles, Frances Nuckols, Ruth Burnette, Nora Wunderlich, Elouise Smith, Helen Kohls, Esther Pfitschen, Margaret Kreidt and the honoree's sisters, the Misses Margery Armstrong and Ethel Armstrong.

CATHEDRALS ARE DISCUSSED BY TRAVELERS AT MEETING

ORANGE, Oct. 15.—English churches and cathedrals were discussed by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Green at a mid-week meeting held at the First Presbyterian church last night. The speakers told of places of worship which they had visited during a three months' trip through England and the Isle of Man.

Mr. and Mrs. Green told of the services are more staid, and that value of architecture to a church. Sunday is more generally observed and stated that the atmosphere created by beautiful and appropriately designed edifices were conducive to a proper attitude toward worship.

Public houses, as liquor houses are called in England, are open but a few hours a day, it was stated. Other facts brought out were that boys' voices were used in choirs in England more than in America, that

It is usually a sign of a deficiency of mineral matter in their diets or of bad teeth, when a horse or a cow eats bark.

The child born on the Mayflower during its epic trip to America was named Peregrine White.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

A visitor from a foreign country was speaking to an interested audience one day about the history and cultural background of his country. He was quoting a conversation with one of the leading men of his country with the following paragraph:

"Said I I said you said I said Said he who said I said you said I said Said is said Said is not said like said."

One of the listeners raised an objection because he couldn't understand it so the speaker wrote it down and punctuated it so it could be understood. Can you punctuate it?

Incidentally, the visitor was from Port Said.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

The words to fill in the blanks are: plates, staple, palest, pastel, petals, plants.

SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 14.—Mr. Charles Bradshaw, fiancé of Miss Georgia Pickett, whose wedding will be an event of late November, and Mr. Cecil McNab, shipmate on the U. S. S. Saratoga, who will be best man at the ceremony, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pickett, 122 Tenth street recently.

Mrs. Vincent J. Casio is recovering from an attack of appendicitis at her home, 111 Third street. Ed Howard, son of Chief of Police, Lee Howard, is showing improvement in his condition following an operation for tumor of the brain a month ago at Community hospital, Long Beach. Making rapid improvement after the first operation, he suffered a relapse from too much excitement, and is showing improvement now after the removal of clots caused by a hemorrhage.

Mrs. Jennie E. Reese, who has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Putnam and Mr. Putnam, 126 Twelfth street, for the past several months, accompanied Mrs. Putnam, Miss Joyce and Elwin to San Bernardino Sunday to visit a son, George Reese and Mrs. Reese. She will remain there for two weeks.

Mrs. Hattie Guenther, 181 Thirteenth street, is visiting relatives and friends in San Francisco and Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sasseen and daughters, Virginia and Evelyn left this week for Ventura to make their home. Mr. Sasseen is an employee of the Continental Oil company, and has recently been transferred to that field from Seal Beach, where he has lived for the past two years.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

MODERN POET OF ANCIENT ROME

TWO THOUSAND years after his birth, the great Roman lyric poet, Horace, remains today the idol of many a college alumnus. For this genial versifier, who sang the praises of a care-free, indulgent life, is still the favorite of those who studied his Latin lines in school.

Quintus Horatius Flaccus, born in Venusia, Italy, in 65 B. C., was directed by his father into a literary career. The wealthy Maecenas, adviser to the Emperor Augustus, became his patron, set him up in a villa on the Sabine Hills near Rome, and brought to him the educated and the rich, while Horace supplied the girls, the wine, and his odes for delightful "week-ends." These odes have inspired many a modern poet.

Horace died at the age of 57. Last year, on the 2000th anniversary of his birth, Italy issued a series of stamps in his honor. The one shown here, with his picture, quotes a famous phrase of his, in which he prophesied his immortality—"non omnis moriar," meaning, "I shall not wholly die."

Future Progress Of City To Be "Planned" By Expert

WILL PREPARE "MASTER PLAN" FOR APPROVAL

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 15.—The Laguna Beach city planning commission has signed a contract with Donald Mackenzie Brown Jr., which provides the basis for a co-ordinated plan for future development of the rapidly growing city.

As planning consultant, Mr. Brown, for a fee of $100 will submit a "Master Plan," of which the salient factors will be: (1) To prepare a report, setting forth the objectives aimed at; (2) To prepare a 3-point plan including full written report, maps, and essential features of the plan—(a) business, apartment and residential zoning, (b) traffic survey, with recommendations, (c) public buildings, (d) parks and parkways; (3) To consult with the planning commission, with particular reference to the practical application of the recommendations and findings of the preliminary report.

The contract, drawn up by City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey, has been approved by the city council, and forms the basis for the new ordinance 154, drawn up by City Engineer Arthur J. Stead, in collaboration with Manfred A. DiAnna, architect, member of the planning commission, the other members of which are: Mayor Luther F. Mallow, ex-officio, Fire Chief P. J. Bushman, City Engineer Arthur J. Stead. Appointive members are Edward J. Eberle, Mrs. Malinda Woodworth, Mr. DeAnna, Mrs. Leslie F. Kimmell, secretary, and Frank J. Cuprien, noted artist.

Passage of the ordinance is looked for at the next session of city council, scheduled for next Wednesday. The various sections of the ordinance cover the amount of area of each lot which may be built upon; the type of building which may be authorized; extent of side yards in residential districts; and provides penalties for violations of the proposed ordinance, involving fine of $500, imprisonment for six months or less, or both such fine and imprisonment.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE NEWPORT HEIGHTS BASKETBALL LEAGUE

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, Oct. 15.—An organization meeting of the Newport Harbor Seventh annual Community Basketball league will be held next Tuesday evening at the Newport Harbor Union high school gymnasium, according to Ralph K. Reed, teacher of physical education to boys in the high school and director of the basketball league. It is expected regular games in the league will begin within two weeks.

Six teams have already declared their intention of playing in the league this year, Coach Reed stated. The last year's champion team, the Food Basket squad, under the leadership of N. M. "Morrie" Crawley, will be in, according to Crawley, and Herb Thompson, Phil Cassell, Oscar Hammerstein, and several others have signed with the unit.

The Balboa Pharmacy squad, directed by Lanny Vincent, has Melvin Beatty, Hal Caldwell, and several other Balboa men in line for their team, and the Costa Mesa Community Church group, close contenders for the championship last year, will be signed up. Harold Long, Herbert Grebe, Phillips and Collins will be in the lineup with others.

Harry Robinson is organizing an Alumni team with Walt Hart, Roy Stafford, Darrell Sabin, Bill Brown, Ken Fowler and other graduates from the school in the squad. A new team that has never played in the league before, the Myrelin Service Station unit, is making plans to play this year, according to Ralph Myrelin, who will captain the squad. Fred Merrick, Fullerton Junior College star, George Myers and Tom Imoyo and several others of the younger high school alumni will be on the team, Myrelin stated.

Harry Estus, member of the Estus Hardware company of Newport Beach will have a squad ready to play in the league, he said. He is not ready to announce his lineup yet, but with the assistance of Tom Hobgood, will have a team ready for the first play, he stated.

TEA PLANNED
LA HABRA, Oct. 15.—The Women's Democratic club of La Habra will hold a social tea tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. at the home of Bertha Hilbert on West Francis street.

Walks Disliked By Laguna Ball Players

LAGUNA BEACH, Oct. 15.—Laguna All-Stars accumulated 15 runs last night, against a total of 10, the best that could be done by Company "L," CNG, from Santa Ana. Accordingly, the All-Stars felt their to the victory, following a rather ragged game of softball, tourneyed out on Laguna Field. Several batters complained audibly and bitterly at the enforced exercise incidental to being "walked" without even a crack at the ball. No remedy was suggested, there being none. Hope triumphing over experience, a return game, demanded by the Santa Ana CNG warriors, will be wrangled out on the same battle-ground, next Wednesday.

The lineup—Laguna All-Stars: Reedy, c; Arnette, ss; Abe W. Johnson Jr. 2b; Bowles, 3b; Deffley, p; Gripe, 1b; McKinley, cf; Wade, lf; Danielson, rf; substitute, Vaughn for Danielson at rf. In the third, National Guard, Co. "L": S. Wright, ss; Winkle, c; Pinney, p; Reestien, 1b; Conrad, 3b; Lopera, cf; Geop, cf; Shoemaker, rf.

KWANIS CLUB PRESENTS PLAY

FULLERTON, Oct. 15.—Every year the Kiwanis club of Fullerton stages a show, the net proceeds from which are given to the fund established as a loan for students in junior college who are without sufficient means to continue their education.

This year will be the tenth performance of its kind and by a recent vote of the membership, half the net proceeds will be devoted to the aforesaid scholarship fund and the other half for the benefit of underprivileged children. The field for this latter endeavor is quite large and several projects for the underprivileged are under consideration.

"Her Temporary Husband" is the title of the Kiwanis show this year and it will be given at the Fullerton union high school auditorium Thursday evening October 22 at 8 o'clock. The play is a three-act comedy and critics pronounce it one of the most uproariously funny productions in years. The cast includes: Irvin Chapman, Mrs. Zella Chapman, Dan O'Hanlon, Ethlyn Queale, Charles Wickert and Joe Johnson. Ticket sales thus far indicate a capacity audience. Reserved seats may be procured at Otto Evans confectionery in Fullerton.

NEWPORT BEACH AUXILIARY HAS BANNER MONTH

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 15.—Over $150 passed through the hands of the local American Legion auxiliary during the past month relative to the various projects the unit is interested in, according to reports by committee heads of the organization at the regular meeting of the unit this week. Mrs. Edna Miller reported $134.71 on child welfare; Mrs. Helen Randall, $4.82 on rehabilitation, and $23.56 on community service, and Mrs. Bessie Pullman, $3 for cooperative sales. The unit voted to purchase 13 pins for the local Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Olive Watkins who has just returned from the national convention in Cleveland entertained the group with reports of convention activities and a display of pictures and souvenirs that she brought back with her.

Games were played and after lunch was served by hostesses Mrs. Florence Anderson and Mrs. Isabel Ganahl prize awards were made to Mrs. Louise Estus and Mrs. Zelma Hostetter.

Several delegates from the unit are planning on attending a school of instruction at Riverside on Saturday. Department officers will conduct a roundtable during the Saturday session, it was stated.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Marjorie Peabody president of the twenty-first district, will give a talk on education over radio KVOE on Wednesday, October 23 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

It was also announced that the unit members' dinner is to be held on Monday, October 26 at 6:30 o'clock in the evening. Reservations for the dinner may be made with Mrs. Edna Miller.

BUILDERS HEAR TALK ON LIGHT

ANAHEIM, Oct. 15.—Lighting of the future was the theme of the Orange County Builders Exchange meeting this week, when approximately 70 members of the group met at the Anaheim Elks club to witness a program presented by the Southern California Edison company. Several employees and officials of the Edison company were present. The meeting opened with a 6:30 dinner.

Ray Taylor, a member of the exchange and local sales supervisor for the Edison company, was program chairman, and introduced as the principal speaker A. Rogers of the engineering and lighting department of General Electric and directly from Nela Park, Ohio, where the experimental work of the company is carried on.

Rogers spoke on the recent discoveries and trends in lighting and neon lights and other equipment to illustrate his talk. The effects produced by various types of lighting were described and the importance of the proper kind of wall paint and other factors in producing a pleasing reflection were shown.

Also an educational and entertaining part of the program was the presentation of a four-act skit by members of the Edison Dramatics club and introduced by George Rankin, lighting engineer for the Edison company. The playlet was entitled "I Couldn't See" and dramatized the tragedies which can occur through incorrect lighting.

M. Van Drimlen of the Thermador Electric Manufacturing company and Roland A. Kloess of the Abstract Title and Insurance company were taken in as new members. Plans were made for a trip onto the Metropolitan aqueduct this month. The next meeting will be at Balboa where nomination of officers will be held, the nominating committee having been appointed at last night's meeting by President I. W. MacFarlane.

GARDEN GROVE TO HAVE NEW PARK: WORK NOW UNDERWAY

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 15.—Work on the long-awaited park project for this community will get under way tomorrow, according to word received from Dan Mulherson, Orange county manager for WPA. Mulherson said that a crew of 25 men will start work on that date, making excavations for installation of a sprinkler system on the site at Euclid and Stanford avenues. The site to be developed as a park is owned by the Orange County Water district and the WPA improvement project was sponsored by the same organization. According to figures released by Mulherson the job will cost $4194. The cost will include planting trees, a lawn and other improvements to be made as soon as the sprinkler system is installed.

The project was launched after several months of effort on the part of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce, local business men and the board of supervisors.

YULE PARTY TO BE SCHEDULED

COSTA MESA, Oct. 15.—At a recent meeting of mothers of children in the local elementary schools, under the direction of Mrs. Carl Focht and the P.T.A., it was planned to have a Christmas party during the month of December. Assignment of hostesses for the event will be named at an early date, it was stated.

The Grade Mothers' club includes the following members: representing the kindergarten are Mrs. H. L. Shilling, Mrs. Glen Croft, Mrs. A. Thompson and Mrs. M. Wooding. First grade mothers are Mrs. W. A. Compton, Mrs. C. C. Otto and Mrs. V. DeSutter. Those of the second grade are Mrs. Rudick, Mrs. Nettles, Mrs. Young and Mrs. C. Stovall. Representing the third grade are Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. W. Boyd, Mrs. V. Lenski and Mrs. V. Abbott; the fourth grade, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. H. Crane and Mrs. E. A. Rea and the fifth grade, Mrs. G. Butler, Mrs. H. Iverson, Mrs. M. E. Marzolf and Mrs. R. Shafer.

The sixth grade mothers will be Mrs. E. Shefflin, Mrs. E. Platt, Mrs. H. Abrams and Mrs. Ray Wallace; the seventh grade, Mrs. J. Hartley, Mrs. W. F. Coleman, Mrs. H. Kidder and Mrs. Phillips; and the eighth grade, Mrs. J. F. Webster, Mrs. Roy Berry, Mrs. F. Marsh and Mrs. Charles Ogden.

Engagement Told At Dinner Party

LA HABRA, Oct. 15.—Beta Chi society sisters were guests recently of Miss Margaret Williams at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Williams on East Whittier boulevard. A happy surprise of the evening came when Martha Middleton, secretary of the group opened and passed a box of chocolates, announcing the engagement of the hostess to Allen Lindsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lindsey of Redondo Beach. No date was set for the wedding as yet.

District P-T. A. To Hold Meeting

OCEAN VIEW, Oct. 15.—A district P-T. A. meeting, featured by a President's council, was conducted here today with registration of delegates scheduled for 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Harry Brown, Santa Ana, district president, presided at the morning business session this morning.

At noon, a pot-luck luncheon was served in the Ocean View grammar school kindergarten room. Following the luncheon, a panel discussion was held on some of the factors that make a successful P-T. A. organization. Speakers were as follows: Evanda K. Perry, Santa Ana; Mabel Spizay, Orange; Mrs. William Kelsey, Garden Grove; Mrs. V. T. Kirvin, Garden Grove; Mrs. Robert Sutherland, Buena Park, and Mrs. Walter Fine, Santa Ana. The discussion was led by Mrs. Kirvin.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

FEMALE COWBIRDS
LOST THE INSTINCT TO BUILD THEIR OWN NESTS BECAUSE OF THE LOSS OF THE PROTECTING INSTINCT OF THE MALE.

IN 1713, THE BRITISH GOVT OFFERED $100,000 TO ANYONE WHO COULD MAKE A CLOCK THAT WOULD NOT LOSE MORE THAN 3 SECONDS A DAY. THE PRIZE WAS COLLECTED SOME YEARS LATER BY A CLOCK MAKER NAMED HARRISON.

THE CONCRETE TRENTON-NEW YORK HIGHWAY WAS SPLIT IN THE MIDDLE AND THE HALVES MOVED 12 FEET APART... MAKING TWO ONE-WAY HIGHWAYS.

WHEN male cowbirds ceased to give protection to their nesting territory, the females lost the instinct to incubate their eggs in a nest of their own. Since an egg in one location was protected no better than one in another, the birds began placing their eggs in the nests of other birds.

NEXT: What was the origin of the expression "bald as a badger"?

WORK STARTS ON $10,000 BUILDING FOR SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Oct. 15.—With technicalities delaying the issuance of a building permit removed, construction on a new $10,000 market building on the northeast corner of Main street and Central avenue got under way here today. Completion of plans to submit with the application held work on the job to excavation for foundations until the permit was issued today.

The new building will be an ultra modern one-story structure covering a floor space fifty by ninety feet. It will be finished with stucco and with a full tile front. It is being built for Alfred Jewell of Spokane, Wash., former resident here and owner of the lots on which it is located, by M. J. Reiss and Son, Long Beach building contractors.

Negotiations for a long term lease on the building are in the hands of M. M. McGrath, of Seal Beach Realty company.

TWO TALKS HEARD AT CLUB MEETING

BREA, Oct. 15.—Intricacies of the work in the department of research for M-G-M studios of Hollywood were discussed by Mrs. Nathalie Bucknall, director of that department, at a meeting of the Brea Woman's club held this week. Mrs. R. M. Fletcher, president, Mrs. Bucknall was presented by Mrs. Corb Sarteth.

Mrs. M. A. Geeting, president of the county League of Women Voters, discussed the several measures appearing on the November ballot. Honor guests presented were Mrs. Archibald Edwards, county federation president, of Fullerton; Mrs. Frank Rosapaw, editor of Federation News, Placentia. New members presented were Mrs. J. E. Witten, Mrs. G. E. Weir, Mrs. Carrie Killian and Mrs. Henry Ridd.

Musical numbers from the Anaheim Conservatory of Music included a piano solo by Marilyn Hargrove; piano duet by Marilyn and Berenice Hargrove; and ensemble including F. Siegel, flute, Lucile Rognet and Ruth Ellen Saez, violins, and Mrs. F. Siegel, piano, piano solos by Mrs. C. F. Dow.

SALUTE TO Love

BEGIN HERE TODAY
KATE AND CAROLINE MEED live on a run-down place called MAJOR SAM MEED, and two old Negro servants, ALTHY and ZEKE. KATE is engaged to handsome MORGAN PRENTISS, who neglected her for EVELYN WELLS, beautiful and wealthy.

In Lexington, a rich and bitter young millionaire, JEFF HAWARD, instructs his lawyer to foreclose a mortgage on the Meed farm and announces his intention of settling there as soon as he can obtain possession.

He decides to move to a dilapidated tenant house which they own. On the day of the move Jeff Howard comes to Meed Meadows and encounters Kate, snatching Helen in her resentment she treats him rudely. His pride is hurt and he responds by insolently boasting of his money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VIII

ON Monday morning Zeke and a man hired for the occasion began to load the Meed belongings on the two-horse farm wagon. "It was surprising how much they had in spite of the fact that the real furniture of the house was being left behind. There had been left to them the dilapidated furnishings of one bedroom—the room over the kitchen and all their cooking equipment. Added to this were innumerable pieces from the attic, once discarded but still usable. With these they planned to furnish the stark little house that awaited them.

Kate and Caroline made a wager. Kate said, "I'll bet you cry before you leave here!"

They avoided all roads that led to sentiment. They left the big grand piano open, knowing that to lower its lid would be like closing a coffin for the last time upon a beloved body.

When the last box and barrel and lamp-shade had been carried out and when the house stood neatly swept, strangely echoing, they began to lock the doors and windows. It was Kate who closed and bolted the great front door from within.

She gritted her teeth when she did it, for it was a symbolic act. She told herself, "I'm the strongest of them all. I'm the toughest. Let me be the one—"

They left by way of the side hall. Major Meed locked the door from without with its big brass key. He put the key on a ring with several others and handed the ring to Zeke.

Engagement Is Revealed At Birthday Party

LA HABRA, Oct. 15.—At a surprise birthday party and handkerchief shower given for her by her mother Mrs. C. W. Rowley, Miss Dorothy Rowley announced her engagement to Joe Aiken of La Habra. The wedding is to take place sometime next summer. Mr. Aiken is a resident of La Habra and is employed here by the Lindauer corporation.

Assisting with the birthday party at the Rowley home on Mountain View avenue, was Mrs. Jim Rowe. Games were played and a large decorated birthday cake formed a part of the refreshment course.

Guests were Corinne and Leota Fletcher, John Herrmann, James Connors, Dorothy and Thomas LaMonte, Ellen Keeler, Kenneth Casper, Evelyn Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rowe, Glen Winfrey, Almida Siebe, Bill Wardrip, Norma Rowley, Joe Aiken and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rowley.

World Tour Told By Beach Youth

COSTA MESA, Oct. 15.—The thrills and experiences of a trip around the world with but few funds was told to local Lion's club members and their friends by Jerry Briggs of Newport Beach, as he related his experiences on a recent trip of the kind. Briggs was the principal speaker on yesterday's program held at Bay Shore camp. He was introduced by Willard Minor, second vice president of the club, who was in charge of the day's program.

Coach Bill Cook of the Santa Ana Junior college football team, a guest at the meeting, also gave a short talk, confining his remarks to football tactics and incidents in the history of many of the outstanding teams of the nation. Cook and Blanchard Beatty were presented to the club by N. W. Crawley, captain of the local Food Basket basketball team.

These artists were presented by Mrs. Elmer Guy, program chairman.

WHEEN they had come to a stop in the weedy yard of the place they mechanically got out and mounted the steps of the rickety porch. It was the first time the girls had ever been on the premises. When Althy and Zeke had cleaned it the week before they had not even questioned them afterward. They had held its existence at bay, like a trip to the dentist.

As the Major opened the front door now with a crooked key and ushered them over the threshold, Kate asked, "Is this the hall?"

"It's the sitting room," answered her grandfather. "Oh!" said Kate blankly.

It was, indeed, more like a hall than a room, being poor in windows and rich in doors. In one corner stood a dingy filigreed stove, its black pipe mounting crazily to a flue near the ceiling. Caroline remarked timidly, "I think it must be the hall, Granddad—"

But they investigated and found the old man to be right. Aside from this room, there were only a dining room and a kitchen beyond, which would serve Zeke and Althy as sleeping quarters. Upstairs there were two rooms and a storage space.

They went outdoors and discovered the fowls already at home within the wire netting of the chicken yard, where Zeke had put them that morning. "Silly things!" Kate hissed at Caroline as they watched them pecking.

A disturbance was heard and Caroline exclaimed with a giggle, "Look at our cavalcade arriving!" The two wagons presented a grotesque appearance. Especially the smaller one, driven by Althy, for at its rear end sat a small and intent colored boy—Althy's grandson, Rutherford—leading the girls' two riding horses by halters. Shep, the farm dog, brought up the rear.

"Well, we're here!" Kate called out. "Critters and all!" There was a sound of relief in her voice, half-gay.

It took them all afternoon to get the furniture in place. Kate, from time to time, would leave the confusion of the house and go to the barn lot to see if the horses were finding life endurable there. Caroline's little mare, Queen, was getting old. Though her black coat was still sleek and her small feet still trustworthy, she had passed

SUNSET BEACH BONDS BOUGHT

SUNSET BEACH, Oct. 15.—Workmen this week started construction of the sewer system approved by voters of the Sunset Beach Sanitary District, at a bond election in 1934.

The $44,000 worth of sewer bonds were sold yesterday, the deal being completed at the Federal Reserve Bank in Los Angeles. The bonds were purchased by the Federal Emergency Relief corporation, George Bush, attorney for the sanitary district, represented that organization in the negotiation.

Upon completion of the deal the district's money was turned over to County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson.

Under the plan of the district the money will be expended for construction of sewer mains through the entire district. Property owners, it was said, will be required to install their own connections with the main line.

La Habra Council Considers Library

LA HABRA, Oct. 15.—The La Habra city council and local library board met in special session this week to discuss plans for the completion of the library building in La Habra which is being constructed under a grant through the WPA.

A resolution was passed by the council authorizing the execution of a deed to the library property to the board of supervisors. This will in no way affect the present arrangement but will transfer the sponsorship of the building to the supervisors instead of the city council. This action was taken as it was thought to be for the best interests of the project.

Salute to Love

the time of high tension and fiery nerves. She was accepting this comedown in life as calmly as old Dobbin and the two work horses would accept it.

"But you're different, Brown Boy, you devil!" Kate told her about the lot disgracefully kicking up turf, whinnying and making a display of his new-born homesickness.

TOWARD evening, while the girls were attempting to mend a broken chair in the living room, a florist truck from town stopped before the house. Its driver spied Rutherford, peeping around a corner. "Boy," he called, "is this where Major Sam Meed's family moved to?"

At the boy's affirmation he got out, opened the rear of the truck and took out three of the most enormous boxes imaginable.

"Ain't nobody died!" the little dorky told him.

"I ain't said they died," replied the driver, and he came up on the porch with his long boxes and pounded on the door.

Kate answered. The delivery was for her. The man departed with grave respect and left her holding the enormous boxes, dismayed.

"Open them," Caroline suggested. They did. Each box held a dozen perfect American beauty roses, with enormously long stems. In one box there was a sealed envelope. Kate took it to the porch to open it, unwilling to share the thrill of the moment even with Caroline.

"Kate darling," her eyes read, "You are moving today and these flowers are to help brighten the rooms of the new house. Their color is gay and courageous. Like you. I kiss your hand, my dear, Morgan."

When Kate went indoors again her bronze eyes were shining, her cheeks flaming like the roses. She seemed to Caroline to be in a sort of trance. . . . There were no vases tall enough to hold the flowers, so they had to use a 10-gallon milk-can.

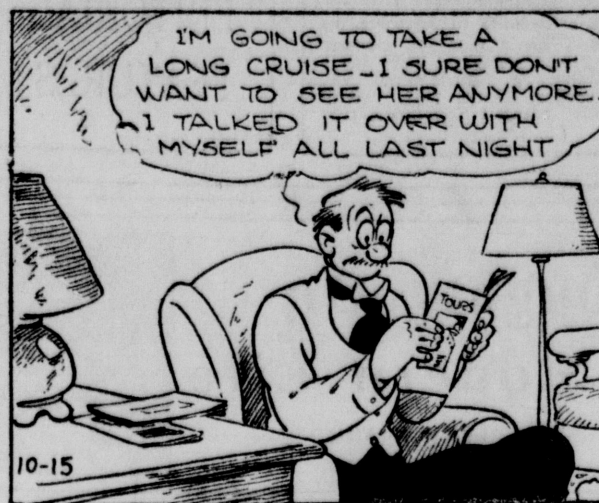

Caroline thought, ruffling her ash-blond hair with tired and dirty fingers, "Of all the things we don't need today it's three dozen American Beauty roses!" . . . There flashed into her mind the basket of heavenly food Morgan might have sent in place of them—a cake, potted meats, olives, home-made rolls from the Exchange, some of those attractive assortments of cheese. She was very hungry, for, like the others, she had had no lunch. The kitchen stove was not up yet. Supper was still only a mirage. . . . But Kate felt her soul on the flowers and did not know that she was hungry. (To Be Continued)

REAL MONEY AND BANK CREDIT EXPLAINED

I read always with interest, usually to advantage your editorials on economics.

I believe in the main your conclusions are correct, but that you are occasionally involved in confusion and contradictions because you fail to discriminate between bank credit and money. Money, of course, has almost as many definitions as there are writers on the subject, and in the parlance of today tokens of all kinds currency, checks, drafts, bills of exchange, in short all forms of circulating credits are commonly called money.

For purposes of ordinary conversation such designation is appropriate enough, and Webster could be cited by those contending that such substitutes are the genuine; but never-the-less a promise or demand to pay money is no more real money than a meal ticket is a square meal. Money, real money, the money of history; of all times and of all peoples; not limited by geographic boundaries nor the stability of political dynasties, no matter of what composed, gold, silver, copper, iron, tobacco, wheat, cattle, slaves, wives or any desirable transferable commodity, was a real tangible thing of value. Intrinsic value! Was valuable because of some real or supposed desirable quality possessed by it and because of some difficulty which must be overcome in its acquisition.

All tokens or substitutes for such articles used as money which did not inherently possess utility and did not involve human effort in acquiring them were mere promises to deliver that valuable article, either direct or implied, on demand or sometime in the future.

Real money; not promises to pay money; because it has value, may be used to measure value and because it is truly wealth, will serve as a reservoir of wealth and because of both qualities functions also as a medium of exchange. Money is generally, though not necessarily, the legal satisfaction of deferred payments. In earlier civilizations money was the principal, if not the only medium of exchange. Today, except in minor retail transactions, it is rarely used for such purpose at all. Credit in some form has displaced it almost entirely.

Credit unlike money is not a material thing, possessing desirable qualities within itself, but a reasonable belief on the part of some individual or society generally that the party promising to deliver some desirable article or service in the future will be able and willing to fulfill all obligations.

Credit is no more money because it performs this one function of money than a yoke of oxen drawing a carriage could fittingly be called a span of horses. Bank credit is a medium of exchange, probably the most efficient, economical and convenient yet devised by the ingenuity of man; certainly just as efficient as either gold or silver and far more convenient; but it is not as you say counterfeit money, nor something for nothing nor does its use unduly increase the purchasing power of the community nor to any appreciable degree, under normal conditions, influence prices.

Banks do not create credit; they do not increase the quantity of existing credit; they merely facilitate the circulation of credit already in existence.

They exchange their own credit for that credit which is created by the exchange of services and accommodations, finished or in the making. Perhaps it is more accurate to say that because of their own credit, which is well established, they are able to guarantee the soundness of existing credit, not so well known as their own, but just as good, and when rules of sound, legitimate banking are followed, always greater in quantity.

To illustrate: A has a crop of wheat almost ready for market. He needs food and clothing now. The wheat is his purchasing power, but because not yet mature if he is to acquire what he must have now this wheat must function as his credit. But mark this well: The wheat is real; it is not counterfeit. So A's credit is real. It exists. It is not counterfeit, nor something from nothing. But A, though honest and industrious, is only locally known and wants to purchase from comparative strangers. There are, of course, many ways by which he might at the expense of considerable time, effort and money establish his credit with the various tradesmen from whom he wishes to purchase, but there is a bank in his community with credit widely established, and he and his maturing crop are both known to the bankers; so he finds it more convenient and cheaper to exchange his own credit for that of the bank, and pay the bank for the trouble and expense incurred in the transaction.

Now just where is the counterfeit or fraud or pyramiding of credits? The bank might report this transaction indefinitely and after each so-called "loan" its own credit would be stronger than before for if sound banking principles were followed the amount of credit it demanded would always exceed by safe margin the amount extended. If human business judgment were only reasonably sound and men's minds did not alternate erratically between the extremes of optimism and pessimism, practically no real money would be needed at all and all transactions might be effected by efficient bookkeeping on the part of the banker. As it is, however, it is reasonably safe for the banker to guarantee the credit of his customers (for that is what bank credit really means) to ten or twelve times the amount of the bank's reserves, that is money or securities immediately convertible into money.

Bank credit is a relatively modern innovation, perhaps more correctly evolution, in harmony with the spirit of the dangerous age in which we live, and its misuse inevitably leads to disaster, just as many thousands of deaths annually are the result of a reckless misuse of the automobile; yet no one questions its efficiency or would willingly revert to ox cart transportation.

Used only as a medium of exchange to effect short-time self-liquidating transactions bank credit is almost impossible of abuse, but used to finance long-time loans or investments safeguarded by deposits payable on demand or short-time notice, it must finally result in loss of confidence, which is suicide of credit.

PRIVATE INITIATIVE

It seems to us that Landon's speech at Detroit, on the subject of conserving our liberties, was the most important speech he has made in his campaign.

He well pointed out that our right to private initiative was not retained because of the present administration but in spite of the present administration and due to the wisdom of the framers of the Constitution and the honesty in interpreting the Constitution by the Supreme Court. Landon pointed out, of course, what is true, and the danger of which is too little recognized, that the present administration endorsed and demanded the law that took away from the farmer the right to raise potatoes in any quantity and sell them without the consent of Roosevelt's agents. The right for men to work on any other conditions than those specified by Roosevelt's agents—few people realize how this would cripple and shackle private initiative and paralyze the private enterprise that made America the best place in the world for the working people to live.

It would seem that the only people who desire and are willing to assume such unlimited control over the lives of 120,000,000 people is an individual who has almost superhuman belief in his own wisdom.

Landon very aptly summed it up by the following paragraph:

"Now any administration that attempts to run the daily lives of its people, to make their business decisions, to supervise their farms, is working on the theory that it is far wiser than its people. But the present administration goes beyond this. It apparently believes that with the concentration of power in Washington came a concentration of intelligence."

It is never the man who has accomplished things in his own private life who becomes so conceited that he believes so strongly in himself.

LOYALTY FOR DEMOCRATS TO WITHDRAW

Since the question as to whether Roosevelt is really a Democrat or whether he is an advocate of state socialism is so often being asked, a telegram sent by the President to the candidates for governor and senator on the Democratic ticket in Minnesota, when they withdrew in favor of the Communist endorsed Farmer-Labor party, is of interest. He wired:

"I want you to know how much I appreciate the fine sense of loyalty which prompted you to withdraw from the gubernatorial and senatorial race."

It is difficult to understand why the President of the United States, if he really believes in the original democratic principles would show such appreciation to have the candidates for senator and governor withdraw in favor of the Farmer-Labor party which has such a socialistic platform. We do not believe that Thomas Jefferson or Grover Cleveland or Woodrow Wilson would show appreciation for candidates withdrawing from the Democratic party.

NOT SO UNUSUAL

The Washington cops who pinched a citizen for sitting in a parked car at midnight and kissing his own wife seem to have had a dark view of human nature. They obviously just couldn't believe that they actually had a married couple on their hands; their experience of life, one gathers, was such as to make this doubt natural.

But the judge who rebuked the cops and turned the devoted husband loose would seem to have been almost equally pessimistic. His remarks indicated a tinge of awe at a love so deep and true that it could still want kisses after four long years of marriage.

He seemed to feel that some kind of citation was in order for a couple which could display such unparalleled devotion.

We are not ordinarily optimists, but we do feel that both the coppers and the judge ought to get around a little more. There are some millions of married folk in this land who could testify that not four years, nor any conceivable multiple thereof, could be enough to rob married love of its taste for kisses.

These Washingtonians must have been meeting the wrong sort of people.

WORLD SIGN LANGUAGE

Sir Richard Paget, English scientist, believes that some day there will be a universal sign language, and that a man then will be able to speak to all the races of the world simultaneously.

He maintains that an extensive vocabulary can be evolved from appropriate movements of fingers, hands, and arms. Thus, hand on heart could indicate "love"; finger on brow, "wisdom," and so on.

When and if the day arrives that such world language is in general use, Americans conversing with Europeans should find two gestures extremely handy; a tired shrug in answer to reports of a new international incident, and a vigorous shake of the head to request for war loans.

But we doubt if any number of signs will enable Europeans to explain to people on this side of the Atlantic why they can't get along together peacefully.

Our friends see the best in us, and by that fact call forth the best from us.—Hugh Black.

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1936)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 15.—Is happening in Indiana, where ten times that amount is extracted from the pay envelopes of poor employees.

The situation here calls for a comprehensive inquiry. Money spent by the state Democratic committee has been used for national ticket purposes and hence comes under the jurisdiction of congress. There is little likelihood that the senate committee would do anything about this before election, but, in the interests of better government, there ought certainly to be an investigation after the election is over.

For one thing, it ought to be ascertained how many of the supposed "voluntary" contributions were really voluntary and what pressure and intimidation has been applied to make state employees give of their salaries to a political fund that is used to elect a president of the United States and members of congress.

The excuse given by the Democratic leaders here is that the Republicans in the old days used to levy a tax too. The Republicans deny that they ever did anything as bold or far-reaching as the Two Per Cent club is doing. It is conceded that state officials were asked by Republican committees to contribute around election time, but it is argued that at no time was pressure used or regular monthly collections made.

The Democratic system is to appoint someone in every state bureau and office to act as collecting agent, and, on the days when the salary checks come in, the employees are supposed to hand in their "2 per cent."

The Republicans claim they never had a third of the money the Democrats are now collecting. But even granting that the Republicans did something like this, the argument is much like that which was used in Wall Street in 1930 and 1931, when practices of a reprehensible kind were exposed to view. The cry then heard was: "Everybody was doing it."

One would suppose that the New Deal, which has been exhibiting itself as a reform administration, would not wish to copy what the "wicked Republicans" did. The accusation flung against the anti-New Dealers throughout the country nowadays is that they want to go back to the old Republican methods. But the Democrats have already gone back—and gone them one better. Imitation may be the sincerest flattery, but two wrongs never make a single right.

The use of money to buy an election is contrary to the basic principles of free government, but, in Indiana, where the Republicans too have had an unsavory record, the Democrats now have come in with more devastating schemes, perhaps encouraged by the indifference of President Roosevelt to "spoils system" practices in the national government at Washington.

The Democrats control the state government and naturally all institutions connected therewith. The state payroll is about $12,000,000 a year, so 2 per cent of this sum would be about $240,000 a month, or $2,400,000 a year. Then there are contractors and others who do work for the state who are expected to contribute to the "Two Per Cent club," but it has not been disclosed whether they have been put on a percentage basis or are expected to make sizeable contributions in accordance with the amount of work or contracts they have on state projects.

The contributions by the government employees are made with the expectation, naturally, that they will keep their jobs. Merit might command that changes be made, but the employee who pays his "2 per cent" gets a feeling of security that he or she will hold onto the job and that, if a contribution is not made, the job will be lost on some trumped-up cause.

All this means that a bureaucracy is built up which functions for political purposes just as effectively as if it were directly a part of the political organization. Thus, key executives even send out word to state employees to attend political meetings, and a record is made of those who do or do not heed the orders.

Pop found ma's diamond ring on the wash stand this morning and he stuck it in his vest pocket to teach her another lesson not to leave it laying around, and when he came home from the office I said, Hay pop, I wonder if ma has missed her diamond ring yet? I'll find out by the latest psychological crime detection method, pop said, and I said, G, what's that?

It calls for the use of auto suggestion, pop said. Certain incriminating words are mentioned, and the suspected criminal immediately answers with the first word that this word suggests to him, or in your mother's case, to her. For instance, if I say the word Ring, your mother, if she has a guilty conscience, would think of the word Lose or Lost, or if I say Lost she would reply Ring, he said, and I said, Gosh, pop, try it.

Which he did while we was eating supper, saying to ma, Now my dear I'm going to play a little game of auto suggestion, and I need your cooperation. I'll give you a word and I want you to respond at once with the word it makes you think of, he said, and ma said, It sound intriguing, go ahead.

The first word is Ring, pop said, and ma said, Military march. How the dooce do you get that? pop said, and ma said, Well, ring made me think of an international ring of swindlers, such as a band of opium smugglers, and a band is also an orchestra, and bands generally play military marches, dont they?

Yee gods, the 2nd word is Lost, pop said, and ma said, The answer is Excuses. The lost word, for instance, and another word for cord is string, which suggests a string of excuses.

Here's your diamond ring, you hadn't even missed it, pop said, and ma said, Of course I had, but I knew very well you had it because you always snatch it up like a vulture the moment I lay it down.

Pass the butter, please, it's a woman's world, pop said. Meaning he gave up.

Thoughts On Modern Life

THE LIBERAL CHANGES GODS

The liberal has changed gods. It has long since become quite pointless to say a man is a liberal unless you define with exactness just what you mean.

The old liberal stood for individualism.

The new liberal stands for collectivism.

The old liberal stood for decentralization.

The new liberal stands for centralization.

The old liberal stood for freedom.

The new liberal stands for coercion.

The old liberal demanded escape from domination by the state.

The new liberal clamors for direction by the state.

The old liberal put his trust in social action.

The new liberal puts his trust in state action.

The prevailing vogue in the days before the forces of science, technology and power production got going was an all-dominant state; power was excessively centralized in political government, in governments that ranged all the way from benevolent despotisms to impertinent tyrannies.

And then, as they used to say in the titles of the silent movies, came the industrial revolution. The old liberal argued at length, and succeeded in carrying his point, that these new forces of science, technology, and power could not develop as they should unless their inventive and developmental genius were free from bureaucratic direction from political headquarters.

In other words, the new liberalism seems to think that a technologic age demands a pre-technologic politics.

I may be dumb, but I don't get it!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

ABSENTEE CHILDREN

What is to be done about a child of 17 or so who leaves home after dinner every evening and stays out until bedtime? He comes in from school as late as possible, just before dinner. Immediately after finishing his meal he leaves the house for that of one of the neighbors. He is a good boy, does good school work, gives no trouble.

I don't know what is to be done with such a child, but I would like to know why he does not want to stay in the house. There is a reason, and when it is discovered the clue to the problem is in hand. Only children are always lonely and seek companions of their own age. Grown people never make up for the absence of children as companions and playmates.

Maybe there is someone in the home who makes staying there uncomfortable for the child. I have known an anxious father to drive his son out of the house by the weight of his anxiety to keep him there. The moment he saw the boy he began berating him for not staying home, recited all his sacrifices, his generosity, his hopes, until the boy escaped. Another parent insisted upon keeping the house like a museum exhibit, cushions plumped, tables just so, all set for the camera. The child had to go out to sit down.

Usually the absence of other young people in the house is to blame for the child's seeking other places to enjoy his leisure. But there is another, a more fundamental reason. All children at the age of adolescence have the urge to escape from home and seek adventure abroad. As wide adventure is too much for them they take it out in visiting at some neighbor's house.

This period lasts for a span of years, sometimes long, sometimes short, but always it is there. When adolescence is about over and maturity sets in the children begin to understand the values of home, and while they are still faced away from home, as they must be to the end, they go there gladly when they have the chance. Going away from home begins in early adolescence, and parents have to be prepared for it, but it is possible, and it is better for the child of 17, to hold him in the home for some time to adolescence by making him cheerful, pleasant and lightened with the joyful companionship of other young people of 17's mood and spirit.

I have known this scheme to work well. Two neighbors discussed their absentee children. "I can see Josephine is getting restless. I believe she is going to do just what your Charlie did, make a headquarters of some neighbor's house."

"Suppose you let me coax her into my house. I'll do my best to make it a good place for her to be and I'll try to overdo it a bit so as to make Charlie feel rather cut out!"

It worked. When all else fails, just try bringing in another young person to make your home his habitation. Jealousy will sometimes do what nothing else will do. And the companionship of another child will often do what grown-up influence has failed to do. It is worth trying out.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply. (Copyright, 1936, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

Los Angeles Military academy football team went down to defeat yesterday afternoon before the Santa Ana High school team, by a score of 23 to 0. The hard-fought game was played on the Lincoln Park field. Their victory has inspired the Santa Ana players with new enthusiasm for their game Friday with San Diego High school on the San Diego grounds. This will be the first event in the Southern California championship series.

Today was the official opening of quail season and many hunters were early in the field. The season will continue until November 20. Twenty birds make a legal bag.
